Day jobs scarce for laborers

Undocumented immigrants harmed by weak economy

Chamber appeals for funds

Deficit brings talk of closure

By Joe Bel Bruno
North County News

The city's chamber of commerce, which has outlived the Great Depression, may have to close down if its recession-fueled money problems aren't resolved.

The financial shortfalls of the 69-year-old business organization stem from cash-strapped merchants who are unable to pay annual membership dues. Now, chamber leaders hope the City Council and community will pitch in to keep the doors open.

"If we don't get (city funds), we can't come up with projects that would give us income, and if we don't get dues paid — then we cannot exist," said Dave Musgrove, Placentia Chamber of Commerce Executive Director.

The chamber sponsors seminars, business breakfasts, mixers, Student-in-Government Day and the city's annual Heritage Festival. It also fields about 3,000 phone calls and 700 visitors every three months, President Al Shkoler said. The chamber has 275 members.

The chamber's demise — or even a curtailment of programs — would burden city staff with extra work, City Administrator Bob D'Amato said. It also would mean cutting programs that are not vital, such as the Miss Placentia pageant.

"We can't absorb programs and cut back our staff because of our own budget problems," D'Amato said. "It is very frustrating."

The chamber began feeling the Hearing on car wash delayed

By Joe Bel Bruno
North County News

Residents are angry that the developer who wants to put a car wash in their neighborhood has once again requested that a hearing on the proposal be postponed.

Those who live on a street located near the intersection of Imperial Highway and Rose Drive believe the delay is a way to keep them from organizing against the proposal. The Planning Commission, which delayed voting on the development two weeks ago, postponed the matter again Tuesday until May 25.

"We are all working people with families," said Neda Yermilov, a resident who lives near the proposed site. "We work all day and come home, and postponing these hearings just makes it hard for us to organize. I think this is being done on purpose."

Those who propose projects have the right to delay presenting the project to commissioners if it helps makes their case clearer at a later presentation, according to Joyce Rosenthal, director of community services.

The group has already collected 400 signatures from residents against the proposal for a gas station and car wash on a rectangular lot sandwiched between Imperial Highway and Golden Way. The petition will be turned in at the next hearing.

Residents have come out against the project because of what they believe it will generate more traffic, noise and gasoline fumes. Neighbors also are concerned that traffic from the car wash would cause more accidents.

Twenty-three traffic accidents were reported on Imperial Highway and the nearest intersection, Rose Drive, according to police records.

District Attorney to decide on charges in shooting death

North County News

Police investigating the Feb. 16 shooting death of local bar owner Jack Hagen hope to determine the case's fate within the next few weeks.

Detectives still are awaiting a forensic and ballistics report from the Orange County Sheriff's Department. The report has been delayed while the investigating deputy recovers from the chicken pox, said Corrine Loomis, a police department spokeswoman.

Hagen was killed in his Alta Vista-area home during an apparent domestic dispute with his wife Marilyn Hagen, who shot him five times in the chest and head.

The Sheriff's report should determine if charges will be filed against Marilyn Hagen.

Jack Hagen owned TJ's Locker Room near Yorba Linda Boulevard and Rose Drive.

Carjacker gets 4-year sentence

North County News

A 26-year-old Placentia man received a 4-year prison sentence for his role in a failed August 1992 carjacking attempt.

Richard Zavala later was identified by the victim, a 28-year-old Yorba Linda resident, as one of two men who attempted to take her car at gunpoint.

Zavala was arrested last October on an attempted armed robbery warrant; his accomplice in the attempted robbery still is at large, police said.

The victim had just finished an aerobics class at the Backs Building, 201 N. Bradford Ave., when she was approached by two men as she sat in her car, police said.

The first man failed to open her locked driver's-side door, but the second — later identified as Zavala — was able to enter on the passenger side. Zavala told her that his accomplice had a gun, which she said appeared was an automatic weapon.

She refused Zavala's demand to relinquish her car to him, honking her horn instead in an effort to get help.

When the second suspect entered her car on the passenger side, she again was ordered out and was struck in the side several times.

But she managed to flee with the keys and the two men ran from the scene a few moments later, police said.

FOR THE RECORD

Due to a reporting error, it was incorrectly reported April 22 that water rates to Yorba Linda Water District customers are increasing July 1. The district's Board of Directors still is studying rate increases to meet revenue losses caused by low water usage during this year's heavy rains.

Mike Robinson, assistant district administrator, said the increase, which could equal 20 cents per 748 gallons of water used spread over two increases, could become effective as early as July 1.

School report draws ire of Placentia parents

M. Loren Hernandez/North County News

A committee's report on school boundaries prompted parents of students at Brookhaven School to hang banner outside the school.

District panel called 'biased' against residents

By Bruce Bailey
North County News

Calling the Placentia Yorba Linda Unified School District's boundary committee's report "very biased against Placentia," more than 120 parents shared their complaints last Monday at Brookhaven School.

Mindy Glatstein, a Brookhaven parent, said she was, "very very unhappy that after 10 months the committee came up with such a disappointing report."

Parents of students from Sierra Vista, Wagner, Topaz and Golden are forming a political action committee to protest the report's recommendations.

Henry Montelongo, Wagner's PTA president said, "the recommendations are very unfair in that they designate two sites in Yorba Linda and only explore the possibility of another school in Placentia.

"Our PTA wants the superintendent to suspend all the recommendations and appoint another fair and representative body that's been reviewed by, and will be accountable to, the board of education."

Montelongo said Placentia parents want the same treatment accorded Yorba Linda Middle School students when they were allowed to transfer to El Dorado rather then split between El Dorado and Esperanza.

"We don't want our children's friendships split when they are divided between Valencia and El Dorado."

But the issue goes deeper than school closures, said Brookhaven

Brookhaven parents seek to save the school

By Bruce Bailey
North County News

Brookhaven PTA president Georgia Danenhauer said the "Save Brookhaven School" banner displayed on the wall next to Bastanchury Road leaves no doubt where the parents concerns are.

And while Superintendent James Fleming told a group of Brookhaven parents that the district will not close any school, Danenhauer said the mood is "we're safe this year but what about next year?"

Danenhauer said because the possibility of closing Brookhaven was mentioned earlier, several parents are nervous the idea may resurface.

"We want assurances from the superintendent that he will toss out all the recommendations made by the boundary committee."

The boundary committee submitted 11 recommendations to the superintendent during an April 14 public hearing at the district's educational services office in Yorba Linda.

Some scenarios presented included closing one of three elementary schools: Brookhaven, Topaz or Wagner.

Boundary committee recommends closing 1 of 3 schools

By Bruce Bailey
North County News

The Placentia Yorba Linda Unified School District's boundary committee's 11 recommendations include the possible closure of one of three elementary schools, the building of another in the district's southwest corner and identifies two new school areas in east Yorba Linda.

Other committee recommendations include:

- Converting the district's junior high schools to middle schools;
- Allowing students enrolled in any school prior to any chances to remain in that school;
- Starting a multi-grade special education program at Woodsboro School; and
- Extending the distances students must walk before becoming eligible for busing.

Bonnie Drolet, committee chairwoman and Bryant Ranch School principal, said many of the recommendations can be implemented as early as the 1993-94 year.

But Superintendent James Fleming doubts that's a realistic time frame.

"I am not anxious to move quickly on this because moving large numbers of people takes time and I want the whole community in on it," he said.

Also Drolet said any closures and conversions to middle schools from junior highs are recommended for the 1994-95 school year.

Fleming said these recommendations, may take at least two years to implement.

Mike Bailey, district facilities planning director, said decisions on closing or opening schools will be pivotal. While closing a school saves about $250,000 a year, a new one can cost about $5 million, not counting the land and start-up costs and supplies.

"And that's a fairly conservative estimate," Bailey said.

Drolet said key factors committee members considered were transportation, the neighborhood school concept, school utilization, ethnic issues, the feeder system, economic impacts, asset management, safety and the middle school concept.

Those areas weren't prioritized, Drolet said, but transportation received considerable attention because of its cost.

Drolet said it costs about $3 million to run the district's school buses and the district receives only $1 million from the state.

School utilization and ethnic balance also received attention.

The committee's scenarios are as follows. Enrollment projections are maximums.

Scenario No. 1 covers schools in the central portion of the district. Scenarios 2-8 cover those in the western portion while scenarios 9 and 10 covers schools in Yorba Linda.

All scenarios are recommendations and all, some or none may be adopted.

Scenario T: This recommendation repeats the plan for Troy High School's attendance area. It reflects the district's plan to expand the El Dorado High School attendance area to include the current Rose Drive, Mabel Paine and Linda Vista areas.

It also endorses the district's open-enrollment policy, which allows any student entering the ninth grade to select any high school, provided there is space.

Scenario No. 1: This scenario wouldn't change Rose Drive but would add Linda Vista's attendance area north of Yorba Linda Boulevard to Mabel Paine. It also would add a small portion of north Glenview to Linda Vista. Mabel Paine's enrollment would be 445 and Linda Vista's 361. Glenview would be 594 if only kindergartners through fifth-graders attend, 717 if sixth-graders are added.

Glenview's area would shift to Yorba Linda Middle from Bernardo Yorba and any new development in the north Fairmont area also would be part of Bernardo Yorba. Yorba Linda Middle School's enrollment would be 985.

The former Troy area would be assigned to El Dorado and the

Memorial for Waco victim set

By Joe Bel Bruno
North County News

The television cameras and late-night telephone calls have begun to fade away for the mother of a former Placentia school teacher listed among those presumed dead when the Branch Davidian compound was destroyed.

Now comes the sad part, Ruth Mosher said. The Anaheim Hills resident said she now must come to grips with life without her daughter, Sherri Jewell.

"I could only hold on (to hope) for so long," said Mosher, 69, still shaken by the events that unfolded in Waco, Texas. "It's been really, really tough on me."

The first step in accepting the tragic outcome to the 61-day standoff is holding a memorial for her daughter. Mosher plans to hold a service at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Fullerton Seventh-day Adventist Church, 2355 West Valencia.

The Branch Davidian sect was created by disgruntled Seventh-day Adventists.

"I do know I want a memorial service, and I want to invite the children who Sherri taught. She would like that," she said. "Anyone can come."

Jewell attended Seventh-day Adventist churches before joining the cult in 1988. She moved into the rural compound full-time in 1992 after quitting her job as a typing teacher at Kraemer Junior High School.

Jewell and her 12-year-old daughter, Kiri, lived with Mosher during the two-year teaching stint in Orange County.

Jewell joined the cult shortly after losing her daughter during a bitter custody battle with ex-husband, David Jewell.

City will offer tours on May 15

The Placentia Police Department, City Hall and library will host an annual open house from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, May 15.

Activities will include facility tours, a book sale, Life-Flight helicopter exhibit, earthquake preparedness and literacy information, a bicycle obstacle course, bike licensing, child fingerprinting and police K-9 demonstrations.

Information will be available about the new Volunteers In Police (V.I.P.), a program in which residents can participate in police business.

Visitors who bring recyclable items to the open house will be eligible to win a bicycle.

TAGGERS

Merchants battling graffiti

Take cleanup fight into own hands

By Joe Bel Bruno
North County News

John Callirgos confidently walked toward a side wall next to the vintage clothing store he just opened in the Bradford Village.

Like a military inspector, he extended a finger and began to scrape it across the cement surface. Callirgos retracted his finger to show a chalky, pink substance covering the tip. It was no surprise. The wall had been painted only three days earlier — and already taggers had hit it again.

"All you have to do is turn your back for a minute," said Callirgos, who opened Berkenstock in January. "To them, this tagging is personal. We just have to keep repainting over it before they realize how this affects us."

Other merchants in 12-store shopping center off Bradford and Chapman avenues agree.

Placentia police believe a new graffiti ordinance the City Council is scheduled to consider Tuesday will do the trick.

The ordinance, if approved, would impose stiffer fines on taggers and offer rewards to people who catch taggers in the act.

Shopowners say they aren't leaving the cleanup and arrest of taggers to police. They're taking it into their own hands.

Merchants are launching a citywide campaign to let potential customers know they aren't being bullied by youths armed with spray paint and etching tools.

For the past three months, strip-center merchants have been painting over graffiti themselves. Some shopowners have even been known to capture a few of the taggers, despite warnings not to do so by police.

The process is long and frustrating to get back customers scared of potential gang violence, one merchant said.

"It gets really bad, really thick over the weekends," Kerry Creeden, who owns Pam's Place, a pet grooming store. "The graffiti first north Fairmont area would shift to Esperanza. El Dorado's enrollment would be 1,695 and Esperanza's would become 2,874.

Scenario No. 2: Topaz would close and its students would be assigned to Sierra Vista, Morse, Ruby Drive and Tynes. This would leave only one elementary school area subject to busing out of the neighborhood.

This scenario also recommends a new school in the southwest area of the district to accommodate the students currently bused out of that area.

All schools in Tuffree's feeder system would become K-5 to accommodate Tuffree's conversion to K-8.

Other changes would include shifting the north La Jolla area to Wagner from Rio Vista, shifting the south La Jolla area to Brookhaven from Rio Vista and returning west Tynes to Rio Vista.

Tuffree would be converted to a middle school for grades six through eight while Kraemer would remain a junior high school for grades seven and eight.

Wagner's enrollment would be 525, Rio Vista's would be 862, Brookhaven's would be 576, Tynes would be 655, Sierra Vista's would be 646, Morse's 569 and Ruby Drive 706. Tuffree's enrollment would be 1,005.

Scenario No. 3: The main difference from the previous scenario is the north La Jolla area would shift to Golden from Rio Vista while the south area would shift to Brookhaven. West Tynes would shift to Wagner and the lower portion would return to Rio Vista.

Scenario No. 4: This plan would shift Topaz students to Siera Vista, Morse, Ruby Drive and Brookhaven. Sierra Vista's enrollment would be 559, Morse 569, Ruby Drive 706 and Brookhaven 569.

Scenario No. 5: Topaz and Wagner would close. Topaz's students would shift to Sierra Vista, Morse and Ruby Drive. Wagner's students would shift to Golden and Morse. Golden's enrollment would be 467, Morse's 618, Sierra Vista's 646, Ruby Drive's 724 and Brookhaven's 467.

Scenario No. 6: The only difference from the previous scenario is that Wagner's students would shift to Brookhaven and Morse while Topaz's would shift to Sierra Vista, Morse, Ruby Drive and Golden.

Brookhaven's enrollment would be 479, Morse's 618, Golden's 461, Sierra Vista's 646 and Ruby Drive's 724.

Scenario No. 7: Topaz and Brookhaven would close. Brookhaven's students would shift to Wagner, Wagner's area south of Yorba Linda Boulevard would shift to Morse while Topaz's students from Temple Street would shift to Golden while all the others would shift to Sierra Vista, Morse, Ruby Drive and Golden.

Scenario No. 8: Topaz remains open but its student population would be reduced to assist in program needs. Topaz's students from Temple Street would shift to Brookhaven and students from a portion of Topaz's attendance area would shift to Ruby Drive. Topaz's enrollment would be 343 and Ruby Drive's 706.

Scenario No. 9: This recommendation would leave Yorba Linda's schools' attendance boundaries intact. Fairmont would remain the same except for the addition of the north Fairmont area from Mabel Paine. Fairmont's enrollment would be 1,209. This scenario identifies two new areas for elementary/secondary schools, one in the Murdock property, which is county-owned land, and the other in the north Fairmont area.

Drolet emphasized that although this scenario identifies sites for two future schools, that doesn't mean the committee sees a student growth problem as yet.

"The two new school area are for possible development."

According to this scenario, Travis' boundaries would remain, Glenview would shift to Yorba Linda Middle from Bernardo Yorba and those in the north Fairmont area would shift to Bernardo Yorba from Tuffree.

Travis' enrollment would be 585, Bernardo Yorba's 868 and Yorba Linda Middle School's 985.

High school students in the north Fairmont area would shift to Esperanza from El Dorado. Esperanza's enrollment would be 2,874 and El Dorado's would be 1,936.

Also, Stallings said because development has dwindled, any new school in this area probably would be five years away at the earliest.

Scenario No. 10: Bryant Ranch would serve kindergartners through fifth-graders and feed to Travis' kindergarten through sixth grade program. Bernardo Yorba Junior High School would convert to a middle school.

Glenview students would shift to Yorba Linda Middle from Bernardo Yorba and the north Fairmont students would shift to Bernardo Yorba from Tuffree.

Bryant Ranch's enrollment would be 1,120, Bernardo Yorba's 917, Yorba Linda Middle's 985 and Travis Ranch's 948.

District lays off 16 child-care workers

By Bruce Bailey
North County News

The Placentia Yorba Linda Unified School District Board of Trustees Tuesday unanimously approved closing the Orchard child-care preschool and laying off 16 part-time employees.

Tim VanEck, assistant superintendent for personnel services, said its child care program is housed in four locations and decreasing enrollment coupled with increasing costs, make it necessary to close the Orchard center and consolidate the other three.

"The 16 classified, non-teaching positions, are part-time for two to three hours a day," VanEck said.

The district has a total of 120 child-care teachers, more than the district can support, VanEck said.

VanEck said the terminations become effective on the last day of school. They can be rehired if openings occur in the child-care program through retirement or resignation, VanEck said.

In other matters:

■ Alan Seeley, a worker's compensation consultant hired to evaluate the district's worker's compensation program, said the district's fund is significantly below its needs.

Seeley estimates outstanding claims against the district will be $1.5 million as of June 30 while the district's fund balance as of June 30, 1992 was $1.2 million.

And because claims for 1994 and 1995 are projected to be $2 million and $2.1 milion respectively, Seeley recommends the district increase its worker's compensation fund balance by at least $400,000.

Seeley said that increase allows the district to be at least 80 percent confident that it has adequate funds to pay its claims.

Seeley recommends the district fund outstanding worker's compensation liabilities as of June 30, 1993 at at rate of about $1,000 per full-time employee.

Assistant Superintendent Kim Stallings said worker's compensations claims are estimated to be $800,000 this year.

"Mostly it's back injuries," Stallings said.

Stallings said while the district does have adequate worker's safety programs, it's difficult to take a pro-active stance on worker's compensation because of the vagueness of state law.

■ Also, Stallings told the board that one version of the state's school choice initiative that will be on the ballot June 1994, not only provides parents a payment voucher if they elect to send their children to private schools, it gives them the choice to enroll their children into other public school districts.

5 picked to fill vacant city commission seats

By Joe Bel Bruno
North County News

Community service might be on the rise in Placentia if the number of applicants for city commission seats is any indication.

It took almost two full days for city staff members to sift through resumes and interview dozens of candidates wanting to fill just five commission seats.

Despite the stiff competition, Councilman Mike Maertzweiler believes it shows how much residents care about the community.

"We've got a lot of good candidates. This (was) a really hard decision to make because they are all just so qualified," he said. "This shows that people are interested in community service. It's very positive."

Two residents were nominated to serve terms as planning commissioners, replacing Robert Ward and Sheryl Perreria, who moved out of the city.

One of the positions was taken by political newcomer LeRoy Sanchez, an electrical engineer. The other was secured by George Petzoldt, who gave up a Planning Commission seat when he ran unsuccessfully in 1988 for City Council.

Bill Brown — a 30-year resident who is now a semi-retired businessman and contractor — was nominated to the Recycling Committee. He replaces Max Ellis, who died earlier this year after a long bout with cancer.

Helen Dalquist was appointed to the Advisory Committee on the Disabled. She currently works with the city of Anaheim as a gerontology expert at its Senior Center. Dalquist replaces Barbara Smith, who resigned.

Bruce Fox, a former police reserve officer, was appointed to the Traffic and Safety Commission. He replaces Jody Ward, who moved out of the city.

NEWS BRIEFS

Councilman, chamber to talk on trade issues

City Councilman Mike Maertzweiler and Chamber of Commerce members will hold their first informal meeting Friday with about 30 top city business leaders about international trade.

The councilman is heading the program designed to push businesses into peddling goods and services abroad.

The idea came to Maertzweiler while attending a seminar on the topic at the Irvine-based World Trade Center. He believes it could someday help boost the local economy and open jobs.

Residents get chance to meet with Moreno

Residents can get a chance to meet Mayor Maria Moreno face-to-face every first and second Friday of the month. Moreno will be at the International House of Pancakes, located across from City Hall at the intersection of Chapman Avenue and Kraemer Boulevard, from 7 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.

Moreno will also meet with residents the first Thursday each month at Tlaquepaque restaurant from 6 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. The restaurant is located at 111 W. Santa Fe Avenue.

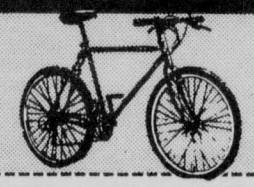

Annual kindergarten registration planned

The annual kindergarten registration will be held at each elementary school site in the Placentia-Yorba Linda Unified School District during April and May.

Proof of birth and required inoculations must be presented at the time children are registered. A birth certificate or baptismal certificate will serve to verify the child's age.

The registration schedule is as follows: Brookhaven, 10 a.m. today; Bryant Ranch, 9 a.m.-noon Monday; Fairmont, 9 a.m. May 11; Glenknoll, May 19; Glenview, 9 a.m. May 7; Morse, 10 a.m. May 13; Rio Vista, May 12; Rose Drive, 9 a.m.-3 p.m. May 12; Ruby Drive, May 11; Sierra Vista, 8:30-11:30 a.m. Monday; Topaz, 1:15 p.m. Tuesday; Tynes, 9:30 a.m.-4 p.m. May 3-7; Wagner, 1:30-2:30 p.m. and 7-8 p.m May 11; Woodsboro, 9 a.m. May 11.

Bryant Ranch sponsors book week

By Peggy Butler
and Bonnie Linder
For North County News

The Bryant Ranch PTA will sponsor its annual book fair week through Friday. Pam Idom, chairman of the event, has lined up many volunteers to be on hand to sell books and school supplies during regular library time and the open house at 6 p.m. today. At that time, the general PTA Association will elect the new officers for next year. Many thanks to the outgoing and dedicated officers and chairmen for this year. We're thankful for their continuing involvement at the school.

The Art Docent program at Bryant Ranch has ended for this year. Thanks to PTA Chairman Martha Cornell for organizing this committee and transporting the art portfolios and keeping everyone informed. She even provided baby-sitting service while they taught.

The art docents did an excellent job and we thank them for offering their time in the classroom. They all agreed that the children's enthusiasm impressed them. Thanks again for making the program a reality at the school and for supporting the fine arts. The art docents are: Nubia Seibert and Judy Winston, kindergarten; Claudia Skinner and Diane Salinas, first; Linda Carl and Colleen Uyekewa, second; Nita Shea, third; Art Jones, fourth; Denise Perry, fifth; and Diane Rash, sixth.

PTA NEWS

The Van Buren PTA sponsored the opera, "The Tales of Hoffman." It was delightfully performed by the Orange County Opera Inc. and sponsored by the Las Campanas of Orange County. It was truly enjoyed by the teachers and children alike.

Honorary service awards were presented to Lynn Hirth, Shari Lee, Karen Fox and Mike Fox at the Founder's Day program. The award is presented to individuals who have given that "extra effort" for the children. The school thanks them all for their work!

The Trailblazer's second and final book fair for the school year will continue through Friday at Travis Ranch School. The sale is being held during the week of open house so that both students and parents can browse and shop. This is a great opportunity to pick up some summer reading material or to get a book for that last-minute book report. Books range in price from 50 cents to $9, with a wide selection for any reading level or interest.

Fairmont PTA held a "new family tea" on April 22 and we thank all the parents who joined us.

At the April general association meeting, the PTA Honorary Service Awards were presented to Art Lemos, Marilyn Kirk, Kathie Daly, and Mark Hillinger, VIP Awards; Jeff Sanders and Peggy Bonkowski, HSA Awards; and Bonnie Linder, Continuing Service Award. Congratulations to all!

Glenknoll Elementary School will hold a book fair through Friday from 7:45 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

An open house for students and parents will be held from 6:30 to 8 p.m. today.

Everyone is welcome at the Glenknoll Elementary School carnival May 7. The carnival will be open after school from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. There will be games, food and more. Tickets will be sold at the entrance.

Janet Evans tells how to motivate yourself

By Anne M. Peterson
North County News

All Janet Evans wanted to do after coming home with three gold medals from the 1988 Olympics was see her boyfriend and hang out with her friends.

Not many high school students know that, but a select group of 474 Western High School teens heard Evans' story recently as she discussed motivation and what pushed her to do her best in the 1988 and 1992 Olympics.

The students who heard Evans' pep talk received a barbecue lunch and special certificates for having grade point averages of 3.0 or above.

Evans, an El Dorado High School graduate from Placentia, took home her fourth gold medal and a silver, her first, from Barcelona last summer.

Evans' high school years weren't like those of typical 17-year-olds, she said. Since the seventh grade, she would rise at 4:30 a.m., swim from 5 to 7 a.m., go to school and then swim again from 2 to 6 p.m.

"I did OK in school," the 21-year-old Evans said. "Swimming took so much of my time it made me more disciplined. I had no social life."

> "I did OK in school. Swimming took so much of my time it made me more disciplined. I had no social life."

Western Principal Warren Stephenson helped organize the event aimed at motivating students.

Stephenson said the motivational speakers series began last year. In order to encourage students to excel, Western High offers an academic letter, much like an athlete's letter, to students who maintain a minimum 3.5 GPA for three semesters.

"It's exactly the same thing as a sports letter," Warrenson said. "We're the first school in Anaheim Union High School District to have these. Instead of a football or baseball, we have these."

The academic letters feature an open book and feather pen instead of a piece of sports equipment.

Evans, now a communications major at USC, said she wants to finish college and find a job in a public relations field.

WORKERS: Day laborers finding jobs scarce

FROM 1

both joyous and bitter, he said.

Mendoza, 28, now joins dozens more day laborers each morning waiting for any job that might help put food on the table.

With work infrequent because of a weak economy, Mendoza ponders where he was better off.

"I thought getting to the United States was the hardest thing in the world, but gladly did it for a better life," said Mendoza, who claims he is too exhausted to make a return trip back to his native Guatemala.

"I had nothing when I came here ... hoped to build a future. No one drives by (the corner), there is just no jobs," he said. "Maybe I should have stayed with my family."

The story is the same for thousands of others who flee Mexico and impoverished Central American countries each year to sneak across the Mexican border.

The men who stand at Bradford and Santa Fe avenues looking for work early each morning serves as a microcosm for other gathering spots for undocumented workers throughout Orange County.

New housing tracts aren't popping up, homeowners aren't relandscaping, building room additions or adding pools and supply is more than demand, according to one Hispanic rights activist.

"The immigrants and undocumented workers are the bottom rung on the economic and social totem pole," said Amin David, president of the Anaheim-based Los Amigos of Orange County.

> "Our economy has impacted adversly the immigrants in general and they've even been pushed beneath the soil in the work available to them."
> Amin David
> Los Amigos of Orange County

"Our economy has impacted adversly the immigrants in general and they've even been pushed beneath the soil in the work available to them."

The group is working with Mayor Maria Moreno, among others, to help. Options they have been exploring include offering free English and citizenship classes.

The city also has considered setting up a day labor hiring site. However, a strapped city budget makes that tight, Moreno said.

"A myth that exists is that there is a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow," she said. "The recession is hitting everybody, not just day laborers. I feel for them, because they are getting hit harder."

Statistics released by the Construction Industry Research Board show that Orange County has been in a slump for the past three years. The number of new homes built in the county dropped by half in 1992, compared to almost 12,000 built in 1990.

This year is also starting off slow, a research board spokesman said.

"We only had about 600 homes built the first two months of this year, which is down significantly from previous months," said Ben Bartolotto, an analyst with the Burbank-based firm. "That would mean anyone tied to the building industry is also hurting."

This has really hurt day laborers who depend on yard work and construction, David said.

Tough economic times have also affected those who work as domestic help — babysitting, cleaning homes and offices, he said.

Many families are finding that they just don't have enough money to pay someone each week to do tasks they can do themselves.

Long Range ®DRYDAY forecast

The planning graph below is a forecast of the daily probability of dry or rainy weather throughout the month. The "valleys" represent low risk of rain and are therefore the expected dry or fair periods. The "peaks," identified by a star and indicating a risky day, signify higher risk of wet weather and should be avoided when scheduling weather-sensitive activities. The heights of the various peaks indicate their percent of risk compared to one another, but just as none of them reach 100 percent, do not expect rain every time.

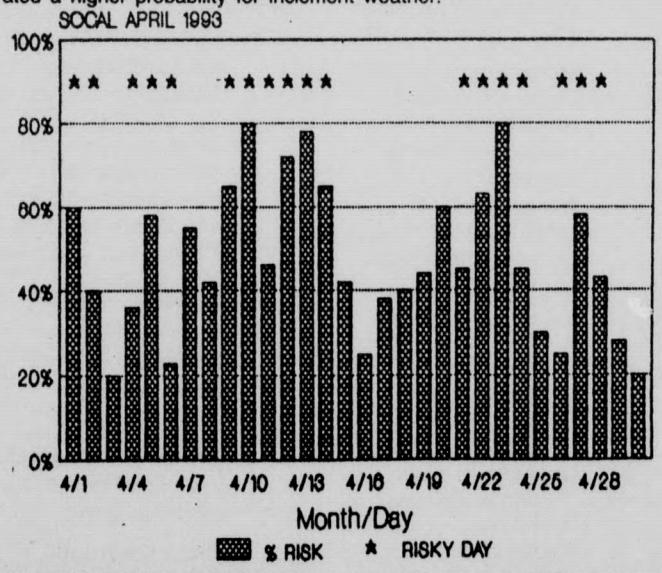

How to use the DRYDAY Forecast

1. "DRYDAY" forecasts are designed to help you, finally, be able to plan your activities weeks ahead without someone changing the forecast.

2. You must watch the forecast each day. Therefore, cut the forecast out of this publication and post it conveniently, like on the refrigerator door or on a bulletin board at home or at the office.

3. After a while you will notice that most rainy days occur on risky days and you will gradually gain confidence in planning your activities on the DRYDAYS.

The forecasts won't be perfect, but you will enjoy very favorable odds over the months and years. Remember "risky" days are not necessarily rainy days, but simply the days that have been calculated for this particular forecast situation over a long period of time, to be in a category which has demonstrated a higher probability for inclement weather.

Losing weight reduces risks

Losing weight can help reduce major health risks such as hypertension, cardiovascular disease and many forms of cancer. In addition, obtaining a healthy body weight increases self-esteem and improves daily energy levels. Therefore, a weight loss program is a positive program.

The B & B diet cookies/cakes program works well. Jack Myers, owner of B and B Pharmacy in Yorba Linda, has lost 30 pounds in three months, simultaneously experiencing a 40 point drop in his cholesterol level (through the cookie diet and moderate exercise).

He reports customers are losing four to ten pounds in the first week and two to three pounds a week thereafter.

B and B Pharmacy is providing a healthy, convenient and delicious meal replacement for weight loss and management. The B & B diet cookies/cakes are nutritionally sound. In addition, they are full of fiber and sweetened naturally with fructose. They provide a safe, great tasting meal that can be taken anywhere and they do not require refrigeration or additional preparation. The cookies/cakes are available in 12 flavors.

Myers says the B & B program is a good way to help people be their healthiest selves.

Placentia welcomes new supervisor

By Maria Moreno
For the North County News

CITY VIEW

On April 19, Orange County Supervisor William Steiner was welcomed to the city by more than 50 Placentia residents, business owners and representatives of various local and county organizations at Tlauepaque Restaurant in La Placita (the original part of town).

Among those attending were: Orange County League of Women Voters; Elizabeth Minter, executive director of the Placentia Library; Peggy Dinsmore, president of the Placentia Library Board; David Musgrove, executive director of the Placentia Chamber and other Chamber members and businesses; and various community leaders including Luz Vargas, affectionately referred to as the mayor of Atwood.

Steiner addressed the inquisitive crowd by letting everyone know how pleased he is to be a supervisor and saying that he will be accessible to the residents and businesses as well as organizations. He also introduced Bob Tunstall, who will be the new liaison representative between Steiner's office and Placentia.

On March 3, Steiner, 55, was appointed by Gov. Pete Wilson to represent the 4th District, replacing former Board of Supervisor Don Roth. Cities that make up the 4th District are Placentia, Anaheim, Buena Park, La Palma and parts of Orange.

Steiner does not deceive himself into thinking his new appointment will be a stroll in the park. He is armed with direct government experience to combat tough issues.

"I have a good perspective on local city government," Steiner said. This stems from his appointment to the Orange City Council in 1988 and re-election in 1990. He also served on the Orange Unified School District board for five years and was president for one year.

Regarding his appointment, Steiner said, "I feel it is a great challenge and feel I know county government and the 4th District."

"County government is no place for the faint of heart," Gov. Pete Wilson said. "Furthermore, when it comes to rolling up your sleeves and getting to work, I can think of no better public servant than Bill Steiner."

A major obstacle, according to Steiner, is the "tax shift from local government to the state of California and budget constraints facing the cities and Orange County. I will work with the Orange County delegation for equity so that the county gets its fair share of tax revenues." Steiner plans to use his background in budgets "to restructure public services and down size," he said.

Steiner has also been a supporter of community policing and the philosophy of Orange Police Chief John Robertson.

M. Loren Hernandez/North County News
Orange County Supervisor William Steiner speaks with residents.

"Chief Robertson has been instrumental in giving more support to a more compassionate police force," Steiner said.

"Chief Robertson's philosophy is to treat all people with dignity and respect," said Pattie Van Voors, Robertson's administrative secretary.

Steiner also worked with Placentia Police Chief Manny Ortega when Ortega was a police officer in the city of Orange. Steiner is looking forward to working with Ortega once again, along with the City Council and staff. Steiner has also worked very closely with the city of Anaheim on Measure J. He co-chaired Tax Payers Against Measure J which opposed the jail being placed in Gypsum Canyon.

Steiner is an Orange County children's advocate who has been active in children's and social service issues his entire career. Since 1986, he has headed the Orangewood Children's Foundation, the non-profit organization that built the $8 million Orangewood Children's Home. From 1978 to 1986, Steiner worked in adoptions for the California Youth Authority and in residential treatment for children.

Steiner has been honored as the 1988 "Child Advocate of the Year" in Orange County and was named "Citizen of the Year" for the city of Orange in 1986. In 1989 he was given the "Commissioner's Award for the Prevention of Child Abuse" by the US Department of Health and Human Services. In 1982, he was named "Outstanding Elected Official" by the Orange County Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

"I'm impressed with his background," said Bob Pusavat, Orange County director of Housing and Redevelopment.

I would like to personally thank Supervisor Steiner and his staff for joining the community and myself at Tlaquepaque and giving us the opportunity to get to know him a little better. So far, I, too, am also very impressed with Supervisor Steiner.

Supervisor Steiner will address the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 a.m. Thursday, May 27 at its breakfast meeting at Alta Vista Country Club. For more information, contact the Placentia Chamber of Commerce at 528-1873.

Maria Moreno is the mayor of Placentia. Her column will appear occasionally in the Placentia News-Times.

SCHOOLS

Stan Bird/North County News

ON THE RUN: Christina McWalters, a fourth-grader at Sierra Vista Elementary School, was among about 450 students who laced on their sneakers April 16 for the school's annual Jog-A-Thon. Students from kindergarten through sixth grade raised more than $12,000, which will go toward the purchase of school supplies.

GRAFFITI: Merchants taking tagger fight into own hands goes up on Friday night, then taggers scope the walls out and retaliate on Saturday. By Sunday, it just covers the entire mall."

Creeden keeps paint and rollers inside her store and paints just about every day to cover the graffiti. In the past year, she has caught three taggers trying to spray paint walls just outside her shop.

In each case, she grabbed them and called police.

"It's frustrating when they are caught in the act," she said. "You just want to grab them in the collar and turn them over. They just keep coming back for more."

Merchants are watching Tuesday's City Council meeting closely to see what will happen to a proposed revision of the current graffiti ordinance. Police have added several changes to the law in order to make punishment for the crime tougher.

The Police Department and city staff members want to offer up to $500 for information that leads to the conviction of a tagger — an incentive already used in cities such as Anaheim and Brea.

Also proposed in the ordinance is a provision that would force are businesses to keep spray paint, thick marking pens and etching tools behind counters.

This would help discourage juvenile taggers, who already are prohibited from purchasing the products, from shoplifting.

One reason for the revisions is to try to reduce the estimated $120,000 a year spent on removing graffiti. Most of the money goes to pay city crews to paint over it.

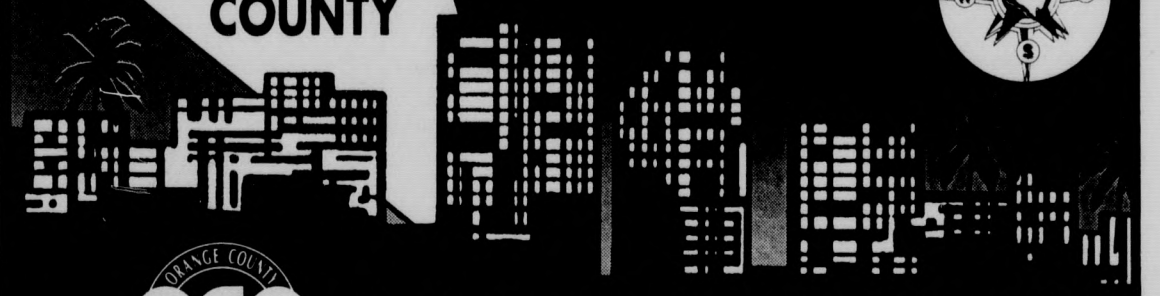

Shopowners at Bradford Village look toward more education to high school-age taggers as the key to prevention. They say graffiti pops up most often before school, during lunch and when class lets out.

"When they aren't at school, they are scouting the area," Creeden said. "That's the problem, and us painting over the walls day-after-day is the only answer I know right now."

IN OUR OPINION

LANDFILL

Public dumps might be placed off limits to public

A north Orange County citizen cleans out his garage, places all the rubbish in his pickup and takes it all to the "dump." Right?

Not if Orange County waste officials have their way.

The county wants to limit landfill access to commercial trash companies, those under franchise protection of government. The common folks, whose taxes and dumping fees helped pay for the county dumps, will be denied access. Instead, residents and small haulers with pickups will be offered transfer stations, which will charge as much as twice the dumping fees paid at the county's "public" landfills.

During a hearing on the plan last week, landscaper Mike Vargas of Fullerton brought cheers from an angry group opposing the county's proposal. Vargas told the bureaucrats: "The dump — we own it. You're trying to close our own place. We paid for it."

Bob Bennyhoff, an Orange Park Acres resident, offered this: "The word 'public' is disappearing from the lexicon these days. We're getting pretty used to the county telling us to go jump in the lake."

What's a person to do? The county seems to be telling its citizens that this is another way to boost taxes without going through the legal process required of Proposition 13. For starters the county is increasing trash fees by forcing residents into more costly alternatives for disposing of their rubbish.

The increased costs at transfer stations will be passed on to the consumer (homemeonwers) who hire gardeners and handymen for major clean ups. Renting dumpsters from franchised trash haulers is another, more expensive, alternative offered residents. The costs of renting dumpsters have gone beyond any semblance of reason because of government-imposed franchising in the trash-collecting business. Government controls on the market have eliminated competition. By creating a monopoly major trash haulers are given carte blanche over their dumpster charges.

There is a more prudent alternative for this government-imposed closed market. That is to open the market to free enterprise, which in turn can put the competitive rules of a free market to work. Allow the consumer, for instance, to get competitive bids for trash bins. And turn over the landfills to private management and let them operate competitively.

CLEVER'S ENDEAVORS

POLITICS

Corruption: It's the nature of the beast

By Don J. Clever
Editorial and commentary director

The political reform act of 1974 is inadequate and enforcement is difficult. So says UCI Professor Mark Petracca during an address Sunday at the Orange County Democratic Club.

The professor placed the blame for recent Orange County political scandals on these inadequacies — and an apathetic public and lack of incentives for prosecutors to investigate political officials.

One could hardly disagree with the good professor. Politics, by its own nature, is corrupt. Politics sets its own ground rules, depends too much on other people's money to survive and innoculates most who enter the political game with the uncanny ability to scratch one anothers' backs. All this breeds corruption, just assuredly as the recent unusual wet weather in California has bred another pest — the mosquito.

As for the apathetic public. I can't say for sure, but could it be that people have thrown up their hands in disgust and dispair with the feeling they have no control over the politicians?

And there's nothing strange about politicians being bedfellows. The political buddy system is working well, if what the UCI professor says is only half true. He told the OC Democrats that prosecuting attorneys rely on endorsements from public officials to win or keep their public office. "It would be hard to bring down someone you depend on for re-election," he said.

To regain control of politics and those who serve in politics, the people must insist on certain things, Petracca said. Term limits and more-stringent laws for disclosing personal income and campaign revenue would help citizens keep a better eye out for abuse, he said. The public needs to demand accountability from public officials, too.

Will that really tame the beast, professor?

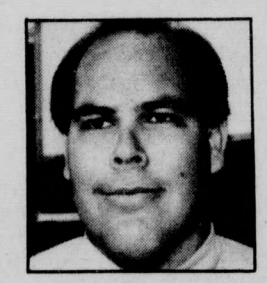

ISSUES/ ANSWERS

PRIORITIES

William Steiner was recently appointed to replace Don Roth as Orange County Supervisor after Roth pleaded guilty to conflict of interest charges.

QUESTION: What do you think should be Steiner's top priority as county supervisor?

Asked at Valencia high school

Bob Parish, 35, educator
"Improving the county's funding of educational programs. If people spent more time tackling the necessary issues they wouldn't have time to cheat."

Georgianne Bryant, 39, teacher
"Education across the county. Opportunities for alternative education for students who do not fit well into K-12 system.

Maria Ethington, teacher
"Creating a more positive relationship between police department and the ethnic community."

Jean Nagel, teacher
"We need to take a survey and see what the priorities are for the people of Orange County."

Jody Ordonez, 28, teacher
"Issues regarding demographic changes. Better representation of ethnic minorities in government."

Jeanette Pease, 52, librarian
"The priority should be economic development in the county but with continuing regard for preservation of the environment."

CHAMBER

strain this year when more than 20 percent of its members did not pay their dues, which range from $150 to $300 a year. The dues account for 62 percent of the chamber's estimated $75,000 annual budget, Shkoler said.

The organization also didn't get as much financial help as expected from the city this year, he said. City Hall kicked in $5,000 this year, down from $18,000 last year. About 70 percent of the 34 chambers of commerce in Orange County receive some municipal funding, Shkoler said.

D'Amato said the City Council feels frustrated it can't give more money to the chamber.

"The state keeps stealing our tax dollars and putting us in a position of cutting services and programs — and the chamber is one of them — unnecessarily. The chamber will get some level of funding, but what level it will be remains to be seen."

The city has been bracing for a $1 million cut in property taxes already threatened by state budget makers.

The City Council recently shelved a proposal to give the chamber a $20,000 grant because members are concerned about the city budget. Council members will again consider the proposal after they adopt a budget, probably sometime in June.

"We are a small town with some small businesses," Shkoler said. "Our reserves are down and there is a cash-flow problem. We are going to make it, but we need some assistance."

Mayor Maria Moreno said one option to bailing out the chamber is to offer an interest-free loan, instead of just giving the money away.

"I've always been a big supporter of the chamber and a loan might be something we should look into," she said. "That way we'll get the money back at some point and can use it for our own budget problems."

REPORT: Placentia 'ignored'

FROM 3

PTA president Georgia Danenhauer.

"The bottom line is protecting the west end of the district from such drastic changes," Danenhauer said.

Glatstein said "I want to ensure Placentia doesn't become the whipping boy for the district."

Superintendent James Fleming said that will never happen.

"I am not in favor of closing any schools and if we are going to change any boundaries we're going to need a lot of time.

"I guarantee you there will be no decisions made this summer."

Committee chairwoman Bonnie Drolet said there was no bias in the recommendations.

"We looked at all the recommendations and, knowing many affect the west, we looked again.

"But with all the schools on the east end close to capacity and no money to bus, what more can we do there?"

The overriding concern was to cuts costs, Drolet said, and closing under-utililzed schools in the west end makes sense.

Fleming said recommendations will be considered with the entire district in mind.

As good as the free market answer appears to us, government officials see a problem with which they're not willing to deal. The "raw material" delivered by many major trash collection companies for the "cash gristmill" operated by politicians would cease. That's, yet, another reason to get government out of the trash-collection business.

Round Table gives $500 to Founders

Starting off this week's column with an "Ah, that's nice."

Placentia's Round Table women's organization donated $500 to the Founders Society to be used toward the purchase of a grand piano for the Bradford House. Representing the Round Table at the recent meeting between the two groups were Penny Wojcik, Pay Hayes, Kay Suiter and Sheron Classon. Clairee Tynes and Jeanne Scherr, Founders Society members, were in attendance. The donation will be combined with the proceeds from the "Fifth Concert," (there were four other summer concerts held), to be held at 8 p.m. May 15 at Bradford House.

Got a note from Jeanne Scherr, who is chairing the event which is called "A Gala Evening in Placentia," a glittering evening of classical piano entertainment followed by a gourmet dessert to round out the evening.

How can there be classical piano music if there's no grand piano. Good question! Celebrated musician Ann Patrick-Green (Patrick's Music store and studio owner), is bringing her own grand piano for her performance of compositions by Chopin, Rachmaninoff, Mozart and Beethoven. The master of ceremonies for the evening, Dave Musgrove, tells us that those attending will see the historic house bedecked in its most formal attire — twinkling lights and elegant decorations creating an atmosphere of cozy elegance from the turn of the century.

Hard working committee members include Mary Castner, Judy Dickinson, Sally Hennigar, Nadine La Borde, Susan Sorensen, Clairee Tynes, Connie Underhill, Pat Mercier, Dennis

A birthday mission

Missionaries make trek from Africa to help celebrate

By Barbara Giasone
North County News

Two missionaries who spent 45 years caring for children in the Ivory Coast left The Nest to help Marjorie Trefry celebrate her 95th birthday.

Frannie Walker and Esther Eykerman arrived in Placentia earlier this month to surprise Trefry, who has served for 36 years as the American liaison with The Nest orphanage program in the West African republic. Walker said Trefry has handled finances for the pair, and written an untold number of thank-you notes to worldwide contributors to the project.

The Nest, founded as a small dispensary by the Conservative Baptist Mission in 1947, has grown under Walker and Eykerman's direction to save dozens of West African children from famine and eventual death.

"When I first arrived, children whose mothers died in childbirth were often tossed into the bushes," Walker said. "The people believed that the same evil spirit that killed the mother was living in the baby. Nowadays, a similar belief has left many children abandoned by parents suffering from AIDS."

Over the years, Walker and Eykerman raised and legally adopted 36 of the African children. "They always considered Marjorie their grandmother, with some traveling to America to spend time with the Trefrys," Walker said. "And when Marjorie's husband, Harold, was sick, we sent one of our adopted children to care for him for more than one year."

Walker said she met Trefry after making an appeal on the once-popular TV program, "Queen for a Day." The missionary told emcee Jack Bailey that one of her sick babies could be helped with American know-how.

"Right after that program, Marjorie invited me to speak to her church group," Walker recounted. "We became fast friends immediately; she was like a mother to us."

Trefry, who lives in Bradford Square for Seniors, said she took a liking to Walker from the start. "She was doing work I approved of."

Although the Placentia woman has never visited the orphanage, she and her family have always welcomed the missionaries into their homes.

"It's like we've always been part of the family," said Walker, welcomed by the 65 celebrants who attended the birthday party. "Every time we were on furlough in America, we would head for the Trefrys."

Bradbury to speak at Yorba Linda Forum

Author Ray Bradbury will speak Saturday evening at the Yorba Linda Forum. The futurist's lecture, "Obvious Answers to Impossible Futures," will begin at 8 p.m.

The lecture, based in part on a book published last year, is sponsored by North Orange County Community College District Community Services. Bradbury is the 1993 recipient of the California Governor's Awards for the Arts in Literary Arts. He has more than 500 short stories, poems, novels, and plays to his credit.

Tickets are $10. To order tickets or for more information, call the Community Services office at 779-8591.

AAUW makes, sells mug bags for Earth

In observance of Earth Day the Placentia/Yorba Linda branch of AAUW is making and selling mug bags to carry to meetings. The mug fits in the little tote bag which has a handle to slip over the arm.

In addition to helping save the earth, all proceeds go to the AAUW Educational Foundation which gives fellowships to women doing post-doctoral work, research, or community projects.

The bags are $2 each or three for $5 and are ordered by calling 528-6846.

Christian Women's Club to host show

The Christian Women's Club will host a luncheon/fashion show at 11:30 a.m. May 10 at Alta Vista Country Club in Placentia. "Classy Mothers," presented by Classy Casuals, is open to the public.

Special guest speaker is Nina Beaty and music will be presented by Amy Feeger. For reservations, call Arlov, (310) 691-9424 or Vi, (714) 633-9739.

Instrumental parents plan annual dinner

The annual Valencia Instrumental Parents Inc. Chinese dinner and student recital will be held May 8. The dinner will begin at 5:30 p.m. at the Valencia High School cafeteria, 500 N. Bradford Ave. The student recital will begin at 8 p.m. at the Fred L. hartley Research Center, UNOCAL Building, Imperial Highway and Valencia Avenue, Brea.

Combination tickets for the dinner and recital performance are $7.50 (advance purchase) for general admission and $5 students/senior citizens; $9 general admission and $6.50 students/senior citizens if purchased at the door. Children 3 years and under are free. For ticket information, call Phil Mortensen at 996-4970, ext. 223.

This is the last student recital of the school year. The Valencia High Schol Jazz Band, Concert Band and a professional jazz band, consisting of instructors, will also perform.

Fashion show, brunch to be held on May 8

A "Summer Fun" fashion show and brunch, sponsored by Placentia Human Services, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 8 at the Backs Community Building, 201 N. Bradford.

Men and women's fashions of all ages will be provided by The Broadway, Clothestime, Hit or Miss, and the Boston Store. Proceeds will benefit special events and activities for senior citizens. Tickets are $4 per person and include brunch and door prizes.

Volunteer Center sets opportunity program

The Volunteer Center of Orange County will sponsor "How to Volunteer: Opportunities in Orange County" from 7 to 8 p.m. May 3 at the Volunteer Center, 1000 E. Santa Ana Blvd., fourth floor, Santa Ana. The session will familiarize individuals with diverse volunteer opportunites. The fee is $5.

For information, call 953-5757.

Soroptimists plan craft fair on May 1

The Yorba Linda/Placentia Soroptimists will sponsor a craft fair on Saturday, May 1 at the Travis Ranch Activity Center (corner of Yorba Linda Boulevard and Via de la Escuela), in Yorba Linda.

The fair will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. The entrance fee is $1 or a raffle ticket stub. Raffle tickets are $2 each or three for $5 and available at the door or from Dr. Christine Matson, 18629 Yorba Linda Blvd.

Antique autos will be displayed and face painting, craft booths, grab bags, raffles and food booths will be offered. Raffle tickets are available for a $1,000 shopping trip at Nordstrom's.

For information and an application to sell craft items at a booth, contact Rosalin Carlson at 777-2180. Profits from the event will benefit Meals on Wheels, local scholarships, homeless families in the area and to support domestic violence prevention programs.

Sorority to mark Founder's Day

Northern Orange County Council of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will hold its annual Founder's Day celebration today at the U.S. Amada Club in Buena Park.

Special recognition will be given to members who have been in the sorority for 15, 25 and 50 years.

New officers will be installed: Hilda Braly, president; Denise Schoo, vice president; Maren Moore, recording secretary; Joan Walton, corresponding secretary; and Nola Gordon, treasurer.

An outstanding member will be honored from each chapter and the council will honor their Outstanding Beta Sigma Phi chosen from the entire membership.

For information, phone 535-2481.

PARENTING

Parents often take frustrations out on children

By Arnold Benton, M.D.
King Features Syndicate

TALKING IT OVER

A child is born. For most of us, our new baby is precious and awesome. We vow to nurture and protect the little, helpless being we've created or adopted. Our own child isn't quite the baby Jesus, but close.

And what goes wrong? I'm sitting here at my desk, writing this column and I have tears in my eyes and a pain in my heart. I've just had harsh and hurtful words with my 12-year-old daughter. Ugly words, uglier tones of voice, words hurled back and forth, designed only to hurt one another.

I'll leave for another time my speculations about what's going on with my pre-teen daughter that makes her difficult to deal with occasionally. It's my own sense of failure I'm wrestling with. After 30-plus years as a psychiatrist, and five-plus years of personal therapy, I'm still dishing out my side of that quarrel.

I know better. I can talk with much more difficult people in my office, and not lose my cool, my perspective. But with my own child, one sassy word or insulting tone causes me to feel hurt and righteously indignant. She can "get to me," and it doesn't take much.

Those feelings of pain and anger are so strong, they overwhelm all the knowledge and experience that make me an "expert" in human psychology. At that moment, it's as if I don't know a thing, and I'm reacting out of blind emotion.

Sitting here now, removed from the scene of the battle, I can think again, and the psychiatrist part of me "understands" that I revert back to my own childhood, and react the way my parents treated me. And that recognition, that I am treating my own child the way I was treated, is truly repugnant to me.

But, I keep doing it, because no matter how much I try to arm myself with knowledge and understanding and remembering how badly I felt being treated that way — no matter how much I've worked to change my own self, my daughter "gets to me" and I lose it.

I'll give myself some credit. I'm not a total failure, and psychotherapy does work. It's just sometimes that I lose it. Most of the time, I'm a more understanding and considerate parent than my own parents ever knew about. And I do feel good about that. But when I do "blow it," I am overcome by a sense of failure that devastates me.

I want to be a good and wonderful parent to my precious baby. I want to respond to her provocative sarcasm and sassiness with appropriate disapproval, not ill temper and harshness.

Let me try telling myself what I tell my patients — You're being a bit hard on yourself. No, you're not perfect yet, and the moments that you blow it really feel terrible, so you've got more work to do. But, appreciate how far you've come, and don't underestimate how difficult these changes are to accomplish.

There's an old saying — six months of psychotherapy is as powerful as a mother's raised eyebrow. Which means that we can talk and remember and understand, but the power of our parents is monumental. Another way of saying it, is that old learning, childhood learning, has much more power than new learning, whether through psychotherapy or school or books.

So, I won't excuse myself, because I want to become an even better person and parent, but I'll stop condemning myself. I'll try to see this episode as a humbling and not a humiliating experience.

I remember one of my patients telling me about a time that she "lost it" with her kids. In the midst of yelling at them, she had the thought that Dr. Benton knew just how to handle difficult situations with kids, and he never "lost it" in his house. My reaction to hearing this was a loud, "Bull -!"

I told her that I "lost it" too, sometimes. We are all striving to become better people, but no one has arrived at perfection yet, not even psychotherapists, ministers, writers of self-help books, or any other advice givers.

I know that, but "blowing it" still hurts — especially when I'm damaging my precious baby.

I have a booklet called Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, that discusses the effects of childhood experience on our adult behavior. You can get it if you'll send $3 and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Arnold Benton, King Features Syndicate Weekly Service, 235 E. 45th Street, New York, N.Y. 10017.

Retiring but not slowing down: Master Sgt. Allen L. Eakle is retiring from the U.S. Air Force on May 1 after more than 20 years service. He enlisted in the Air Force in 1972, shortly after graduating from El Dorado High School. During his Air Force career as a public affairs technician, he served at many bases, including Grand Forks AFB, N.D.; Nakhon Phanon Royal Thai AFB, Thailand; Spangdahlem AB, Germany; RAF Alconbury, England; the U.S. Air Force Academy, Col. and Nellis AFB, Nev.

A highlight of his career was his assignment as the airshow coordinator for the U.S. Air Force Air Demonstration Squadron "Thunderbirds." During this assignment he coordinated nearly 200 aerial demonstrations in the U.S., Canada, and Europe, including historic visits to Poland, Hungary and Switzerland. He also served two temporary duty assignments in the Persian Gulf region. His proud mom is Patsy A. Caulfield who says Allen plans to reside in the Las Vegas area after retirement.

ist. Following marriage, they raised three children in Eagle Rock.

Affectionately called "Granny," the nonagenarian keeps in contact with her nine grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild, most of whom attended the birthday celebration.

Trefry's son Allan, a former band instructor with Orange Unified and Whittier school districts, and his wife, Mary Ellen, hosted the Sunday afternoon party. Also traveling to honor their mother were Trefry's daughter Carolyn McMahan of Barstow and son Robert Trefry of Sunnyvale and their families.

The missionaries said they were returning to Eykerman's home in Paris where she will undergo treatment for her third bout with a rare form of muscle cancer.

"Our adopted children have more or less taken over The Nest," Walker explained. "They've never forgotten all the help Marjorie and her family have given over the years. She will always be family to us."

Food

Guys' cookoff to benefit kids' museum

Local teacher competes for gourmet title

By Barbara Giasone
North County News

Fullerton dentist Dr. Walter Deutsch's Chinese Chicken Salad takes center stage next to Brea attorney Jerry O'Brien's Chocolate Profiteroles dessert (top right) among a sampling of food to be entered in Sunday's "Gourmet Guys" Children's Museum at La Habra fund-raiser.

M. Loren Hernandez/ North County News

Budget cuts forced the cancellation of Harvey Callaghan's cooking classes at Tuffree Junior High School.

But it hasn't stopped the Placentia educator from whipping up Oktoberfest celebrations for the staff or encouraging youths to be creative in the kitchen.

Callaghan's own style of cooking artistry will be featured Sunday when he pits his kitchen skills against more than 100 amateur chefs in the "Gourmet Guys" cookoff benefiting the Children's Museum at La Habra.

The 2 to 6 p.m. fund-raiser will be held at Chevron headquarters, 1300 S. Beach Blvd. in La Habra. Open to the public, the $35 per person event is expected to draw 500 guests.

Callaghan said he designs his recipe repertoire from a wide selection of magazines. His favorite, he added, is Southern Living that offers regional recipes.

"Teaching food classes at Tuffree and at Bernardo Yorba Junior High was a lot of fun," Callaghan said. "Sometimes we would take three days cooking up an international dish. And the kids loved to bring in ethnic recipes. It's just too bad the classes had to be cut."

Now teaching industrial arts classes, Callaghan reserves his cooking time for small dinner parties and meals he shares with Janet, his wife of 36 years.

His Turkey Tortilla Soup will be featured with other offerings from city officials, police and fire chiefs, athletes, corporate executives and community leaders. Entries include appetizers, salads, entrees, casseroles, soups, chili, vegetarian cuisine and desserts.

All entries will be judged by a panel of celebrity food writers and chefs. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded. Prizes will also be awarded for the best table decoration.

Guests at Sunday's gourmet venture will have a chance to stroll past brightly decorated tables, nibble delicacies and sample fine wines and coffees. A silent auction and live jazz ensemble will also be featured.

Judges include chefs Sarah Scott of Robert Mondavi Food and Wine Center; Susan Kaitz, Sfuzzi; Roseanne Ruiz, Sorrento Grill; Creed Salisbury, Cat & the Custard Cup; Bruno Serato, Thee White House; Jack Downing, Hacienda Golf Club; Joseph Ling, China Palms; Patrick Bruynell and Pascal Gode, La Vie en Rose.

Additional judges are Sherry Johnson, cookbook author and president of St. Andrew's Dining Society; Jeri Wilson, restaurant critic and member of the Southern California Food and Wine Writers Association; Dr. Kenneth Friedenreich, food and wine connoisseur representing Orange County Newschannel; and Eric Hansen, representing Mondavi Wines.

Orange County Supervisor Gaddi Vasquez, along with philanthropists John Crean and Carl Karcher plus football great Vince Ferragamo of Orange, are honorary co-chairmen of the fund-raiser.

The event co-chairpersons include Nancy Zinberg of La Habra, Roberta Jenkins of Long Beach and Marcia Giesler of Buena Park. Serving on the steering committee are Mary Ann Barngrover of La Habra, Barbara McIntosh of La Habra Heights, Russ Moore of Placentia and Dr. Bill Mosier and Dede Ginter of Fullerton.

All proceeds benefit the Children's Museum, California's original hands-on children's museum that is currently celebrating its 15th anniversary.

Last year, more than 200,000 children and their families from Los Angeles, Orange, San Gabriel, Riverside and San Bernardino counties visited the museum.

For ticket information and reservations, call Marcia Giesler at (310) 905-9793.

Here's the recipe by Harvey Callaghan:

TURKEY TORTILLA SOUP

1 large onion, chopped
4 ounces diced green chiles, drained
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon ground cumin
2 large garlic cloves, minced
½ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
8 cups turkey stock or 6 cups chicken stock
1 16-ounce can tomatoes, coarsely chopped
1 pound boneless turkey meat, cut up
Kernels from one large ear of fresh corn
⅓ cup fresh cilantro
Salt & pepper to taste
2 cups monterey jack cheese, grated
1 large package of tortilla chips, broken into large pieces

Prepare stock one day ahead with vegetables and garlic. Simmer five hours. Discard bones. On the next day, add remaining ingredients except cheese and tortilla chips. Simmer 45 minutes. Ladle soup and sprinkle cheese and chips on top at serving time.

Here's a couple more recipes featured in the "Gourmet Guys" cookoff. The Seafood Gumbo recipe is by Bill Klinghoffer and the Chicken Milano is by Bob Leal, both of Fullerton.

SEAFOOD GUMBO

⅓ cup all-purpose flour
¼ cup cooking oil
½ cup chopped onion
⅓ cup chopped celery
⅓ cup green pepper
4 cloves garlic
¼ teaspoon black pepper
3 cups chicken broth
1½ cups okra (or 10 ounce package frozen okra)
2 bay leaves
12 ounces frozen shelled shrimp
6 ounces crab (cut up)

In a large heavy sauce pan, combine flour and oil (for roux) until smooth. Cook 5 minutes over medium heat, stirring constantly. Reduce heat, cook and stir about 15 minutes more or until roux is dark reddish brown.

Stir in onion, celery, green pepper, garlic and black pepper. Cook over medium heat for 3 to 5 minutes or until vegetables are just crisp-tender, stirring often. Stir in chicken broth, bay leaf. Simmer 30 minutes. Add shrimp and crab during last 5 minutes of cooking. Serve over rice; garnish with carrot tops.

CHICKEN MILANO

1 cup all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons salt or seasoned salt, divided
⅛ teaspoon black pepper, freshly ground
8 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves (about 2½ to 3 pounds)
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 large garlic clove, minced
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
1¼ cups chicken broth (10½-ounce can)
⅔ cup water
½ teaspoon dried oregano, crushed (see cook's notes)
½ teaspoon dried basil, crushed (see cook's notes)
Pinch of crushed red pepper flakes, optional
1 cup (2 medium) carrots, thinly sliced
1 cup (1 medium) zucchini, julienne-cut
Hot cooked pasta or rice (see cook's notes)

In a bowl, combine flour, 1 teaspoon of the salt or seasoned salt, and pepper. Coat chicken with flour mixture; set aside.

In 12-inch skillet, heat oil. Brown chicken, cooking 4-5 minutes on each side. Remove from skillet; keep warm. Add garlic and onion to pan; saute until tender. Drain off excess fat. Stir in tomato paste, broth, water, remaining salt, oregano, basil and the (optional) red pepper flakes. Return chicken to skillet; heat to boiling. Reduce heat; cover and simmer gently for 20 minutes. Add carrots, cook for 10 minutes. Stir in zucchini; cook an additional 3-4 minutes until zucchini is tender but still al dente.

Serve over hot pasta or rice. Makes 8 servings.

Cook's notes: If you wish, substitute 1½ teaspoons of fresh herbs for the dried basil and oregano. Fusilli pasta, long, curly, spaghetti-like strands, make a pretty addition to this dish. If you prefer, long-grain rice or even orzo (rice-shaped pasta) can be served.

Campers of all ages can join in on the fun as this gigantic bus soars and spins 20 feet in the air overlooking the six-acre Camp Snoopy children's area at Knott's Berry Farm. Three other new rides have been added to help Camp Snoopy celebrate its 10th anniversary.

Knott's adds 4 attractions to Camp Snoopy

By Bill Norris
North County News

It began as a place for children to have fun in a place where high-speed thrill rides are dominant.

Now, 10 years later, Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park is celebrating the birthday of Camp Snoopy with the addition of four new attractions and plenty of birthday surprises.

Opening on July 1, 1983, the six-acre area of the old-time amusement park combined elements of the comic strip "Peanuts" with the California High Sierra to provide an area where children could have fun at their level.

"Camp Snoopy was designed for families to experience together," said Knott's President Terry E. Van Gorder. "It's a place where children and their parents play and participate in a beautiful, natural setting. We have taken care to make the camp an authentic adventure, brimming with rustic beauty, for our guests of all ages."

Along with the rides, Camp Snoopy has places for children to learn about nature and science. There is a petting zoo and shows for animal lovers. For those who want to learn about electricity, there is the Thomas A. Edison Inventors Workshop, which has demonstrations in conducting and creating power.

The added rides give children a chance to experience what older counterparts do without the risk of being too scared to have fun. The other attractions just give children a place to have fun.

CAMP SNOOPY FACTS

OPENED: July 1, 1983

SIZE: 6 acres

THEME: The California High Sierra

RIDES AND ATTRACTIONS: 23

FOOD AND MERCHANDISE: 5 locations

INTERESTING FACT: All of the 15,000 living plants and trees are indigenous to California and the High Sierra.

The roster of additions is:

■ Camp Bus: A scaled down version of the Gran Slammer, this ride gives a chance for the whole family to experience the thrill together. The ride only goes 20-feet into the air compared to the approximate 70-feet the Gran Slammer reaches. Other modifications have been made to make the ride appealing for the younger crowd.

■ Rocky Road Trucking Company: The ride gives children a chance to truck around the area around Camp Snoopy at a easy pace. Children can honk horns as they drive the junior 18-wheelers. Extra excitement comes when the trucks pass beneath Montezooma's Revenge.

■ Log Peeler: A kid's size version of the high-energy ride, the Scrambler. Riders should be ready for a super spinning session.

■ Snoopy's Bounce: A 38-feet-tall, 25-feet in diameter version of the cartoon beagle — the largest Snoopy figure in the world, Knott's officials said — sits atop the inflated structure, which allows children to bounce off the air cushions. The structure is hard to miss.

Celebrity appearances kicked off the festivities last weekend. Jay Thomas, Leeza Gibbons, Joe Regalbuto, David Hasselhoff and Theresa Saldana topped the list of those appearing.

The new rides aren't all that is in store for guests during the celebration.

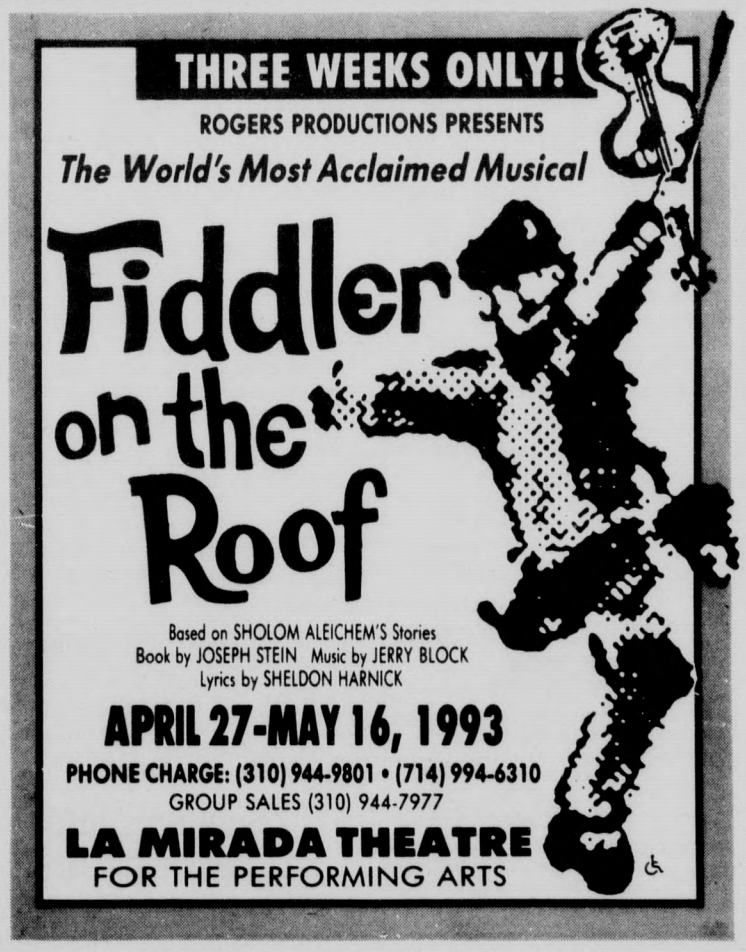

A new ice show titled "Snoopy's Great Race" will be the headline event in the Chevrolet/Geo Good Time Theatre. The show will pit Snoopy against his arch-nemesis the Red Baron.

There are also plans for headline children's entertainers to perform at the park, while clowns, mimes, acrobats and the Peanuts Pals roam the park in celebration.

The park will celebrate the anniversary with events through Labor Day.

CURTAIN CALL

'Little Shop' comes to life at La Habra Depot

By Peggy O'Hara
For the North County News

"Little Shop of Horrors" is nonstop fun! This pastiche of rock 'n' roll, romance, mystery, murder, mayhem and the most monstrous plant ever to bloom on a stage is an outstanding production at the La Habra Depot Theater.

Sparkling with a great cast and crew, this adaption of Roger Corman's 1960 cult film is campy, crazy and directed with eerie charm by Jack Millis.

Recently seen with an entirely professional cast and crew at the magnificent new Cerritos Center for the Performing Arts, that "Little Shop" had only a four-day run and it was a delight. But weep not! You still have the opportunity to see a completely hilarious and campy repeat for a ticket price that fits any pocket.

Sparkling performances are given by each member of the cast at the Depot production, but the best comes from Audrey II (the plant). It grows in size, viciousness and lethal appetite. Assisted kineticallly by Fullerton's Cherylrenee Rendes and Natale P. D'Amico, Audrey II's marvelously horrendous voice is the bass baritone talent of Sean Hilferty.

Martin Kennedy is very good as the rough and tough biker who is also a maniacal dentist. In addition he plays half-a-dozen other characters, one in drag. Imperial is marvelous as Mushkin.

This La Habra production, especially Audrey II, is as good or better than most. Watching it grow, listening to its demand of "Feed me" is worth the price of the ticket alone.

The play continues through May 29. For tickets, call (310) 905-9708.

"I Take This Man," now playing at the Garden Grove Community Theater is, according to playwright Jack Sharkey, the story of a young lady who catches a falling stud and puts him in her apartment.

This rather unlikely plot, filled with puns, funnies and cliches is a far-fetched farce about unconventional characters. The play opens in a Boston apartment shortly after the ending of a yearly marathon. A giddy, good-looking red headed young lady is escorting a policeman who is carrying the limp unconscious body of a handsome young hunk.

Enter Charlene, Giddy's blonde roommate, who demands the story of why a man in his underwear is on their couch. Giddy improvises one kooky idea after another until Charlene's fiancee, named Dex, comes to dine (by previous invitation).

Directed by Philip Weitzman, this mildly entertaining, slight comedy provides a lot of laughs, little substance and adequate, though not inspiring acting. Riley Evans is perhaps the most spontaneous player, although Jason W. Green's policeman is the most believable. Lindsay Irvine (Antonio) is a handsome hunk and did the best he could with improbable material. Linda Checkman is a lovely slender blonde whose constant flinging of arms becomes a bit too much.

Most outstanding feature of the evening is the set construction and decorting, plus the friendly atmosphere always on hand at the Garden Grove Community Theater.

Playwright Sharkey, who died last year of cancer, was enormously popular with with community and dinner theaters worldwide. He was known as "the king of G-Rated Comedies." He also co-wrote many musicals and mysteries, numbering 82 altogether.

BASERUNNERS BEWARE

Ritchey adept at throwing out would-be stealers

By Rusty Evans
North County News

Carrie Ritchey's been struggling a little at the plate this year, but there's nothing wrong with her defense.

Ritchey, a sophomore catcher for the Valencia High softball team, isn't batting in the .450 range as she did last season. But she's been nearly impossible to steal on.

Anaheim found out the hard way. The Colonists tried to steal five times and were thrown out by Ritchey five times in last Thursday's Orange League game.

That's five runners Ritchey took out of scoring position, putting Valencia in position to win the game, 4-3.

Ritchey is batting only .233, but is throwing runners out at a .733 clip. She's nailed 11 of 15 base stealers this season.

"Carrie is so good behind the plate that I hate to put her anywhere else," said Valencia coach Kelly Stephenson, who has been pressed into using Ritchey to pitch on occasion. "She blocks the balls well and throws so well. Plus, she can calm pitchers down and has that experience and knowledge that she can communicate to others on the team. Even though she's very quiet, she's very team-oriented."

After playing club softball for five years, Ritchey had no trouble with high school pitching her freshman season, when she batted better than .400 and was voted First Team All-Orange League and the team's most valuable player.

But her sophomore year has been a bit puzzling for her, as she's had her ups and downs.

"In the beginning of the year I was hitting pretty good, but now it's kind of slow," Ritchey said. "The pitchers in travel ball throw more pitches and are more difficult to hit. It's hard to adjust to high school ball because the pitchers throw slower."

"She's geared to faster pitchers," agreed teammate Destinee Huffman, who also plays with Ritchey on the Southern California Blazers travel ball team, based in Placentia. "When it comes to fast pitches, she's excellent. She just needs to make the adjustment to slow pitching. I have a lot of confidence in her. No matter what kind of mood she's in or how things are going, she always gives it 100 percent."

So does Huffman, who smacked a solo home run in Thursday's triumph.

Ritchey is quiet behind the plate and, although she's the catcher and best hitter on the team, she says the leadership role is spread among all of her teammates.

"We have no seniors on the team so everybody does it together," Ritchey said. "We're getting better. The team's coming along."

Valencia evened its Orange League record at 2-2 with Thursday's victory.

"She talks some on the field, but she likes to have everyone be a part of the leadership," Huffman said. "She thinks everyone should have that spirit. She gets along well with everybody."

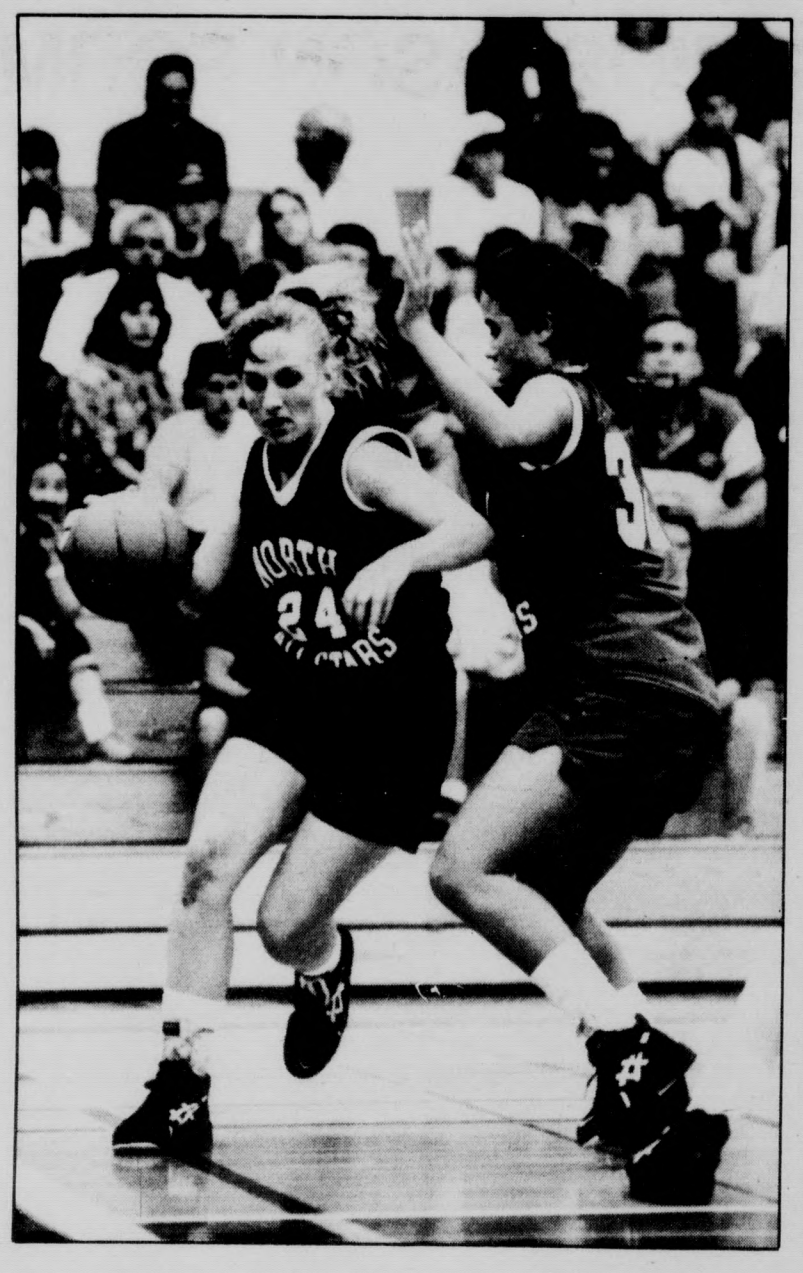

Except opposing base runners. Those she guns down every chance she gets.

PREP NOTES

El Dorado softball squad moving up

Hawks sweep teams ahead of them

LANCE PUGMIRE

If momentum carries any validity, El Dorado High's softball team has got it.

The Golden Hawks entered their final six Empire League games this week after a memorable last week.

On April 20, junior pitcher Heather Hamer compiled a two-hitter and El Dorado defeated and dethroned first-place Loara, 3-1. The victory was the first-ever over the Saxons for four-year Golden Hawks coach Nancy Graham.

Two days later, El Dorado trailed defending CIF Southern Section 5-A division champion Cypress, 3-0, after five innings. A walk and five hits later, however, the Golden Hawks were ahead, 4-3 — the margin they won by.

"Yes, I would say coming back like that could spark us," said Graham.

El Dorado (9-10, 2-2 in league) was in a four-way tie for second before Tuesday's game at last-place Esperanza. Katella, today's road opponent, leads everyone at 3-1.

Graham is especially excited about Nikki Hart's hitting feats. Batting .500 (26 for 52), Hart went 3 for 3 against Cypress and had two hits versus Loara.

El Dorado baseball coach Steve Gullotti was selected to assist Esperanza coach Mike Curran in the June Orange County All Star Baseball Game.

Gullotti and Curran will be joined on the bench by Troy's Dana Ilertsen.

Now for the bad news:

The defending-champion Golden Hawks were swept by Curran's Aztecs in last week's big home-and-home Empire League series, placing Esperanza in first place by two games with six remaining.

On April 21, the Aztecs won, 8-1, when Golden Hawks starting pitcher Benito Flores was hampered by control problems and El Dorado was unable to get its offense untracked, stranding 11 baserunners.

Also, Golden Hawks catcher Spencer Frost fractured his left kneecap in a fourth-inning play at first base. Third string catcher Mike La Peaux played April 22.

In the April 22 game at Cal State Fullerton, Esperanza again won, 8-1, as pitchers Marcus Jones and George Hart combined for a five-hitter. El Dorado (12-8, 6-3 before

Legend to host fastpitch final

North County News

Legend Girls Softball Club of Placentia has been awarded the bid to host the California State American Softball Association 14-and-under Girls Fastpitch Championship, July 16-18 at Golden Park.

More than 20 teams nationwide are expected to compete for a berth in the National Championship Tournament, to be held at Chicago in August.

Legend, a 1992 national qualifier, plans a variety of activities during the tournament, including a pancake breakfast July 17, food concessions, a Moon Jump and novelty booths.

Local merchants are encouraged to support this community event through sponsorships, donations and advertising.

For information, call Tournament Director Gary Wilson at 827-1851.

SPECIAL OLYMPICS

Everyone wins at annual meet

By Bob Buttitta
The Orange County Register

Hugs, smiles, applause and even a few tears were part of the 25th annual Orange County Special Olympics track and field meet Saturday at Western High School.

Mentally and physically disabled from throughout Orange County took part. The athletes ages 5 to 50 competed in 20 track and field events.

The meet was a qualifier for county athletes who will participate in the state Special Olympics in June at UCLA. Meet coordinator Dave Barry said about 10 percent of the athletes from Saturday's meet will be picked by coaches to go to the state meet.

"Rather than just send the athletes with the best marks, we try to give all the athletes a chance to take part in the state meet," Barry said. "We use it as an incentive for the athletes. It's an experience we'd like them all to eventually have."

The Special Olympics' philosophy is that participating, not winning, is important.

Orange County's Special Olympics program is the nation's largest, officials said. There are more than 2,500 mentally and physically disabled competitors in the county.

Most years, more than 700 athletes and 1,000 volunteers take part in the track meet, but those numbers were basically cut in half this year.

The meet was scheduled for March, but rain forced a postponement. The new date forced many athletes to drop out of the competition.

"As it turns out, the 'Very Special Arts Festival,' is also today (Saturday)," Barry said. "That's an event which happens once a year, while there are a lot of athletic competitions for them to compete in throughout the year.

"It's just one of those things. And for those athletes here, we're going to make it as good an event as in past years."

Still, Special Olympics veteran Paul Hoffman said athletes appreciate the support. Hoffman, equipment manager at Sunny Hills High School, was participating in his 10th Orange County Special Olympics.

"It's fun to come out and renew friendships, with other athletes and the volunteers," Hoffman said. "Special Olympics means so much to so many people, including me.

"The support we (the athletes) get is great. All it takes for a lot of people is one time coming out and they're out here every year."

Events included wheelchair races; 50-, 100-, 200-, 400-, 800- and 1,500-yard running races; 25-, 100- and 400-meter walking races; relay races, and a pentathlon.

Also, there were field events such as a softball throw, tennis-ball throw, plastic-disc throw, standing long jump and high jump.

PREP FOOTBALL

North roster for all-star game is set

Is there anywhere else where prep football in July is routine?

In Orange County, the North-South Prep All-Star Football Game will be played for the 34th time Friday, July 9 at Orange Coast College's Le-Bard Stadium.

The North will be coached by Servite's Larry Toner.

Local standouts slated to participate in the game include Matt Estes and Ace Riggins of defending CIF Southern Section Division VI champion Valencia, along with Brett Bryant and Andy Osborne of El Dorado.

YOUTH BASKETBALL

YMCA game is a hit at Sports Arena

North County News

The Placentia/Yorba Linda Trailblazers of the YMCA held a championship basketball game Sunday at the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

Zipping about the same hardwood that the NBA Los Angeles Clippers as well as USC men's and women's teams call their home floor, teams labeled as the Blazers and the Clippers battled in an entertaining, see-saw contest.

It was all Blazers in the first half as they seized an 11-6 lead by halftime, but the Clippers rallied in the second half and won going away, 30-21.

The Clippers roster was made up of Cole McKinstry, Chaz Reta, Ryan Smith, Ben McKinstry and Derek Forshee. Event organizer Tony Reta was the Clippers' coach.

Playing for the Blazers were Jarad Vale, Mike Griffin, Jason Gregorio, Nick Dilillo and David Alviso. The coach was Jim Griffin.

"It was a very hard fought game," Coach Reta said.

Proceeds from the game went to the City of Placentia Recreation and Human Services Department, the Gomez Center and the Witen Center.

NOTES

FROM 36

Wednesday's game against Loara) had the bases loaded in the first inning, but couldn't score. Jones then retired 13 straight.

El Dorado's 1,600 meters relay track team finished fourth at Saturday's Orange County Championships at Trabuco Hills High.

The Golden Hawks' foursome was timed in 3 minutes, 23.79 seconds. First-place Foothill set a meet record in the event (3:17.83).

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: EDMUND JESUS NAVARRETE AKA ED J. NAVARRETE
CASE NO. A168140

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: EDMUND JESUS NAVARRETE AKA ED J. NAVARRETE

A PETITION has been filed by PAUL MICHAEL MCLAUGHLIN in the Superior Court of California, County of Orange.

THE PETITION requests that PAUL MICHAEL MCLAUGHLIN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on May 13, 1993 at 1:45 P.M. in Dept. 703 located at 341 The City Drive Orange CA 92668.

IF YOU OBJECT TO the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: MARGARET FRANCES MCLARAN CASE NO. A168146

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: MARGARET FRANCES MCLARAN

A PETITION has been filed by WILLIAM MCLARAN in the Superior Court of California, County of Orange.

THE PETITION requests that WILLIAM MCLARAN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on May 13, 1993 at 1:45 P.M. in Dept. 703 located at 341 The City Drive Orange CA 92668.

IF YOU OBJECT TO the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE UNDER DEED OF TRUST
T. F. No. 95232 RZ
Loan No. 825840
Other Ref. --
A.P. Number: 339-371-20

YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST DATED September 29, 1987. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER.

Notice is hereby given that Serrano Reconveyance Company, as trustee, or successor trustee, or substituted trustee pursuant to the Deed of Trust executed by Surendra K. Jain and Saroj Jain, husband and wife, Recorded 10/12/1987 in Book N/A Page N/A Inst. # 87-571973 of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Orange County, California, and pursuant to the Notice of Default and Election to Sell thereunder recorded 11/17/1992 in Book N/A Page N/A Inst # 92-781675 of said Official Records, will Sell on 05/20/1993 at 1:00 P.M. at the North front entrance to the County Courthouse, 700 Civic Center Drive West, Santa Ana, CA at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash (payable at the time of sale in lawful money of the United States), all right, title, and interest, conveyed to and now held by it under said deed in the property situated in said County and State and described as follows: Lot 6 of Tract No. 4124, in the City of Placentia, County of Orange, State of California, as per Map recorded in Book 145, Page 20 of Miscellaneous Maps, in the Office of the County Recorder of said County.

The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 537 West Center Street, Placentia, CA 92670.

The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein.

The total amount of the unpaid principal balance of the obligation secured by the property to be sold and reasonable costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is: $284,727.58.

In addition to cash, the Trustee will accept a cashier's check drawn on a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state. In the event of tender other than cash is accepted, the Trustee may withhold the issuance of the Trustee's Deed until funds become available to the payee or endorsee as a matter of right.

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty, express or implied regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the indebtedness secured by said Deed, advances thereunder, with interest as provided therein, and the unpaid principal of the note secured by said deed with interest thereon as provided in said Note, fees, charges and expenses of the trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust.

Serrano Reconveyance Company, 4900 Rivergrade Road, Suite 2870, Irwindale, CA 91706, (818) 814-6370, By: R. C. Mailliard, Asst. Secretary, Dated 04/07/1993

WE'LL PAY YOU TO HAVE EXCITING WEEKENDS

The Army Reserve will give you weekend excitement like you've never had before, and you can earn more than $15,000 while you're enjoying yourself during a standard enlistment.

Think about it. On a part-time basis, usually one weekend a month plus two weeks' Annual Training, you could earn good pay, have a good time, make good friends and even be entitled to good benefits and opportunities to get money for education.

You'll also be getting hands-on training in a skill that will last you a lifetime.

Army Reserve knows how to make weekends interesting. Are you interested?

Think about it. Then think about us. Then call:

CAR CARE CORNER

THE AUTO TUTOR

Solutions to your car problems from the Automobile Club of Southern California

Question: I have a 1986 Mazda 323 that just stopped the other day. The mechanics that I towed it to said that it spun a main bearing and that I need a new crankshaft. They are quoting $1,300 for the repair. Isn't that a little high? They said that this was cheaper than overhauling the whole engine. — T.O.

Answer: The price doesn't seem out of line, but from what you're saying, we think that a mechanic would have to overhaul the engine. To correct the engine block wear, the main bearing web must be rapiered and align-bored.

This would require disassembling the engine. With this type of repair, the oil passages should also be inspected, which also requires an engine disassembly. There is also a strong possibility that the camshaft may be damaged. If the garage replaces only the crankshaft and bearings, the same problem may reoccur at an even faster rate than before.

Ask your mechanic about a used engine from Japan. There are a number of local companies that import well-tested, used engines from Japan and offer them with a warranty for about $400-$500. Have your mechanic check that the import engine has the necessary components or will accept components from your car to make engine pass California emissions requirements.

Question: I have a 1964 Chevrolet pick-up with a broken fuel gauge. I have been searching for a year to find a replacement part. GM does not stock it anymore. My mechanic called the wrecking yards, who put it on the hot-line, but has had no success. I mark the mileage and fill up every 100 miles, but sometimes I forget. I am tired of running out of gas. Can you help? — S.W.

Answer: You have looked in the right places. Get a copy of "Hemmings Motor News" which is available from most large newsstands. Hemmings contains a variety of aftermarket manufacturers which supply new and remanufactured parts for older vehicles. If you can't find what you need through Hemmings, you may have to use an aftermarket fuel gauge that can be mounted on your dash.

Question: I have replaced the electronic ignition module on my 1979 Buick LeSabre three times in the past three months with three different brands. One stopped working after a day. I put in a rebuilt distributor about 50,000 miles ago. The plugs were last replaced along with a new rotor and distributor about 30,000 miles ago. I believe the plug wires are original equipment (110,000). The car runs smoothly after replacing the module. Why do these modules only last such a short time? Would it help to replace the plugs and plug wires again? — A.N.

Answer: There are at least four possible solutions. First, the new module may be defective from the factory. Check to see if the warranty is still applicable.

Second, there are some aftermarket replacement modules that aren't electronically compatible with the GM/Delco ignition system in your car. Try using a General Motors Delco ignition module.

Third, the module may be mounted improperly. For example, silicone grease should be applied to the bottom side of the module to insulate it from engine heat. If the grease isn't applied properly, the module could burn out prematurely.

Finally, the Auto Club recommends that you have your car's electrical system completely checked with professional diagnostic equipment. Check especially the whole primary ignition circuit including the pickup coil. Poor connections could cause problems with the module.

Question: During the rain the other week, the ignition in my 1988 Ford Mustang got wet, and I could not start the car. Is there any way to help dry out the ignition quickly? — S.B.

Answer: Spray WD-40 on your plug wires and distributor cap. The ingredients in WD-40 help remove moisture. It is also wise to spray WD-40 (or any other ignition-dry spray found at most auto parts stores) prior to a rainstorm to protect your ignition.

Question: I recently purchased a 1989 Toyota Cressida, and when I went to add more antifreeze, I noticed it was colored red. I have tried to find red antifreeze, but I can't find it anywhere. Is it OK to use green antifreeze, or do you know where I can find red antifreeze? — R.P.

Answer: For many years people have been asking Toyota dealers about their red antifreeze, wondering if it was a special type of coolant. Toyota's red antifreeze is not special. It is red because Japan requires car fluids to be color coded, so when something is leaking, people can tell what it is by its color.

As far as mixing U.S. antifreeze (blue or green colored) with red, the only effect it will have is changing the coolant. Toyota now offers red antifreeze as a generic Toyota part, so if you'd like to use red coolant in your car, visit your local Toyota dealer.

Question: I have a 1984 Chrysler Fifth Avenue that I have taken to the dealer several times for the same problem and all the mechanics do is change the spark plugs. The problem occurs when I'm driving; the engine misses and cuts out momentarily. The car feels like it is going to stall, but it doesn't. This problem doesn't happen all the time. I never know when it will happen, and I'm afraid the engine will stall completely one of these days. I would appreciate any help or advice you can give me. — J.E.D.

Answer: Based on the information you've provided, there are some other areas to check that may be causing the problem. Your car's main system, the Electronic Fuel Control (EFC), manages the air/fuel ratio and ignition timing. The EFC is also divided into several sub-systems (i.e. fuel control, electronic throttle control, spark control, data sensors, spark control computer (SCC), electronic exhaust gas recirculation (EGR), elctronic air switching and catalytic converter). A malfunction in the EFC system may result in engine surge, hesitation, rough idle and/or poor fuel economy.

Before testing the EFC system, check all vacuum and electrical wiring for proper routing and connections and also check for exhaust EGR, and manifold leaks. Because of the complexity of these computerized controls however, it is best to have a trained technician using diagnostic equipment perform the necessary tests.

CLASSIC CAR OF THE WEEK

Jim Lennartson of Orange turns a few heads when he drives this 1939 Ford Deluxe Coupe around town. Painted green with green velour interior and trunk, the car sold new for $1,700. Lennarts values the vehicle at $26,000 today. The Ford is powered by a 350 Chevrolet engine and has a 350 turbo transmission. Lennartson hasn't scrimped on the options. He added cruise control, tilt wheel and an AM/FM radio with cassette.

Engineers seek wiperless windshields for clear visibility behind the wheel

For all the great safety advances the automotive industry has achieved in the last 90 years, engineers agree the key to driver safety is clear visibility. What we are able to see and what we do not see are the determining factors in our ability to successfully maneuver today's crowded roads.

Safety glass, tinting and larger, sloped windshields are some of the developments that drivers have seen over the last few years. Now "holy grail" of the automotive glass industry is what is referred to as hydrophobic glass.

Other than darkness, it is rain and snow that cause the greatest loss of driver visibility. For the past 75 years, drivers have relied on wiper blades to sweep away rain, snow, dirt and debris. In attempts to achieve greater visibility without wipers sweeping by, engineers have tried such things as blowers that were supposed to increase the air flow over the glass so rain and snow would be blown off the glass quicker. Repeated testing have shown this method not to be successful.

Others have tried chemical solutions applied directly to the surface of the glass. These solutions are rubbed into the glass and build a coating that causes rain to bead and roll of the glass quickly. While there has been success in this area, there are some reports of hazing which distorts clear vision. there also is the problem of having to continually reapply the chemicals because the coating wears and washes off.

The theory behind hydrophobic glass seeks to achieve the water-beading effect of the chemical solution so that the natural airflow can clear the glass. While glass manufacturers are working closely with the automotive and aeronautic industries, no one has been able to fully perfect this elusive glass.

Meanwhile, a Dallas-based wiper manufacturer has developed an innovative wiper refill that gives drivers the beneficial hydrophobic effect. At the recently held Automotive Parts and Accessories Show, Lifetime Automotive Products, Inc. introduced the industry's first silicone wiper refill. Because these DuraBlade refills are made of this high tech synthetic instead of ordinary rubber, they give drivers some unique performance benefits.

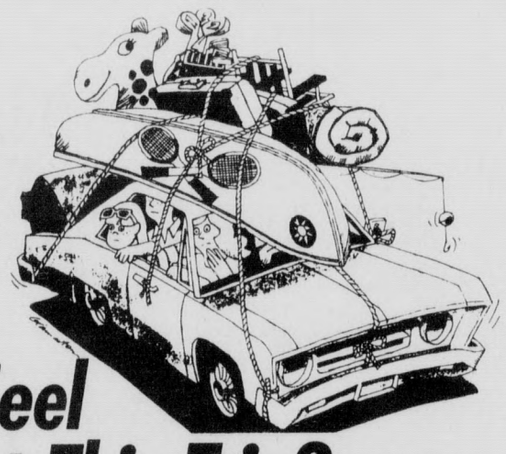

As the refills sweep across the windshield, they leave an invisible silicone shield on the glass. Th result is hydrophobic glass that makes rain quickly bead and roll off the glass. This makes it possible to see a dramatic improvement in visibility in heavy downpours. Drivers also find that they can see clearly with their wipers off in light mist or drizzle. In addition, the silicone shield seals small pores in the glass so snow, ice, dirt, mud and other debris do not stick.

Silicone has proven to be an ideal wiper material for other reasons as well. First, it can withstand temperature extremes from -90 degrees to well over 250 Fahrenheit. It also is unaffected by ultraviolet light, ozone, salts and other road chemicals. As a result, it does not deteriorate, crack, rot, dry out or warp.

Because silicone is so durable, the manufacturer guarantees the DuraBlade refills to last as long and you own your car. And since the refills are continually maintaining the silicone shield on the glass, the hydrophobic effect lasts witout washing or wearing off.

Therefore, while engineers and scientists continue their quest for completely hydrophobic glass, drivers at least have the option of getting this safety enhancing benefit with a low-cost and simple-to-install silicone wiper refill.

How Does Your Car Feel About This Trip?

Cars are a lot like people. When they're healthy, they feel like taking on the world. When they're not, they can be a real drag. So before leaving on a trip, find out whether or not the car is up to the task. Look over a check list. Then make sure the car has had a good "physical."

Here is a sample check list:

Cooling System: Coolant at the proper level and rustfree; cap, hoses in good condition and connections right.

Drive Belts: Check adjustment and condition.

Battery: Check fluid level.

Engine: Check condition and adjustment of ignition and carburetion components. Tune if necessary.

Air Filter, PC Valve: Check condition, clean and replace if needed.

Lights: Check headlights, taillights, brake lights and directional signals.

☐ Windshield Wipers: Check arm and blade condition; also windshield fluid.

Tires: Check pressure, tread and general condition; rotate if needed.

Brakes: Check fluid level and adjustment. Have a wheel removed to check condition of linings and cylinders.

Suspension, Steering: Check steering linkage, shock absorbers and struts, wheel alignment and balance.

Lucrication: Check engine, transmission and power steering oil. Lubricate chassis, change oil and filter.

Exhauts System: Check muffler, exhaust and tailpipe.

Licensed drivers numbers continue to increase

The number of new drivers in California's licensed driver population continued to increase in 1992, according to figures released recently by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The .4 of one percent rist to 20,140,700 continued a pattern of uninterrupted growth in the number of licensed drivers in the state. Five years ago there were 18.5 million licensed drivers.

Orange County, second in the total number of licensed drivers only to Los Angeles County, has 1.79 million licensed motorists, an increase of nearly 5,000 from 1991.

Parts stores are do-it-yourself havens

Motor vehicle owners do not have to be Saturday mechanics to buy a basic replacement part at a neighborhood parts store. Parts clerks will need some basic information about a vehicle before filling a customer's order, however. Information on the car make, model and year is as close and the owner's or registration papers or the owner's manual from the manufacturer.

HOME OF THE WEEK

Presented by Century 21 Achievers

A stately circular driveway leads into this refurbished custom home surrounded by well-kept landscaping and excellent horse facilities. The Yorba Linda home sits on a 25,937-square-foot lot. It is zoned for five horses.

The oak and leaded glass front door opens to a ceramic tile entry and hardwood floors. The living room with its fireplace is an excellent area for entertaining, as is a formal dining room. The kitchen includes a garden window, oak cabinets, decorative tile counters and a separate dining nook.

The 2-story floorplan includes 3 bedrooms and 2.75 baths.

The horse facilities include a breezeway barn, tack room, hay barn and riding arena. A workshop is located next to the 2-car garage.

The home is priced at $375,000. For a private showing, or for more information, call Joyce Shore at (714) 779-8344.

State tax receivers to outnumber taxpayers

Patrick Veling's
PROPERTY LINES

In an ominous prediction of the future quality of life for Californians, economists estimate that tax receiving residents will outnumber taxpaying residents within two years.

The findings suggest that the sociological makeup of our state is changing more rapidly than experts had predicted.

Although economists and demographers have warned of sure-to-come changes in California's sociological and structural foundations, few observations have created as real an awareness of the issues as this one. The facts themselves are scary. The effects those facts will have on all phases of the quality of life in California are scarier.

Consider the following three facts:

Record numbers of high-income taxpayers, those aged 40 to to 65, are leaving the state. Many have been forced to do so in order to find work during the state's lingering recession. Other western states, including Arizona, Utah and Colorado, are enjoying a record influx of Californians and the resultant economic benefits.

While this important population segment shrinks, others continue to grow at or near record pace of the booming 1980s. The unfortunate economic fact is that these burgeoning groups of Californians are those most dependent on the tax revenues which would have been funded by those leaving the state. These groups include welfare and unemployment recipients, as well as senior citizens, school-aged children and prison inmates.

The continued California population growth during the 1990s will be at an economically unhealthy balance, with only 1 percent of new state residents immigrating from other states. The remaining population growth will be 55 percent natural (births minus deaths) and 44 percent foreign immigration.

Thomas Nagle, director of the California Employment Development Department, echoes what many economists, sociologists and demographers have been saying for years.

"The state's economic crisis is not just a passing phase but indicative of substantive and fundamental change at California's sociological and economic roots," Nagle said. "The ramifications of such a shift are larger than most in government and industry can comprehend in advance of those changes, forcing continued hardship on the state."

Once the shift in tax receivers-versus-taxpayers has occurred it will never reverse itself, Nagle warned. He suggests that the primary reason for governmental and industrial delay in dealing with the current economy is that those in charge are looking at only the current problems and not towards a future of continuing economic challenge.

"We must decide what kind of (future) economy we want. We have to come to grips with the way things are before we can take steps to make things the way we want them to be," Nagle concluded.

Such trends will certainly shake California, probably sooner than the next 6.0 magnitude earthquake.

The job base will shift from higher paying, hi-tech applications to lower-paying service industries. Job creation and resultant income levels will ultimately determine the viability of the state's real estate market.

And large numbers of foreign immigrants will change housing demands. Certain Asian cultures expect that in-laws and grandparents will live under the same roof with their children and grandchildren. A demand for larger homes will likely result.

Hispanic consumers are more likely to combine families — not necessarily related — in order to purchase a home. This trend, too, may result in a demand for larger homes and alternative financing arrangements.

While many analysts have talked of California's certain future, few predicted that future would arrive as quickly as it has.

Real estate professionals and their clientele will do well to investigate these trends and factor them into their short- and long-range plans. Acknowledging the facts is always the first step to financial success.

Construction lending off 45% in first quarter

Construction lending in Orange County plummeted during the first quarter, reflecting the over-all slowdown in building,

Commercial and residential construction financing dropped nearly 45 percent, to $109 million for the quarter, according to La Jolla-based Dataquick Information Systems. That was also significantly down from fourth quarter 1992, when lending totaled $227 million.

Clayton Behm, a President's Club member as a lending officer at a major bank, has joined Directors Mortgage Loan Corporation in Whittier, according to John Foster, branch manager. An 8-year veteran in the lending industry, Clayton will represent Directors Mortgage in the greater north Orange County area.

Landmark Bank VP pleads guilty to payment charges

Cynthia A. Drennan, a former vice president at Landmark Bank in La Habra, has pleaded guilty to federal charges that she made three unauthorized payments totaling $219,000 to small businesses.

Assistant US Attorney Stefan Stein said those payments were part of a larger scheme that cost the bank $2.5 million. The government will tell Judge Terry J. Hatter Jr. the larger figure when he sentences Drennan on June 28. She could get as much as 15 years in prison and a $750,000 fine.

Drennan admitted paying $50,000 in bank funds to Midway Auto Wholesale and $169,326.50 to Copper Sands Corp. The bank had not approved loans to the two businesses at the time, and the funds never were repaid, Stein said.

US regulators rein in Pacific Inland Bancorp

By Dawn Yoshitake
The Orange County Register

Anaheim-based Pacific Inland Bancorp was ordered by federal regulators to restructure its operations as protection against its real estate laden portfolio.

The bank holding company, which operates Pacific Inland Bank as its main asset, was hit with a cease-and-desist order — a stiff regulatory rebuke — by officials of the Federal Reserve Board. The order calls for Pacific Inland to submit a plan in the next 60 days on how it will, among other things, boost its capital reserves set aside to guard against losses.

Bank officials, however, report that the bank's capital levels are above federal requirements and say it is one of a growing number of California institution subject to operating restrictions.

Ocean West offers unique programs

Ocean West Funding, a Tustin-based mortgage banker, believes it is unique in the mortgage banking business. "We represent borrowers, not loan programs," says Mark Steward, president.

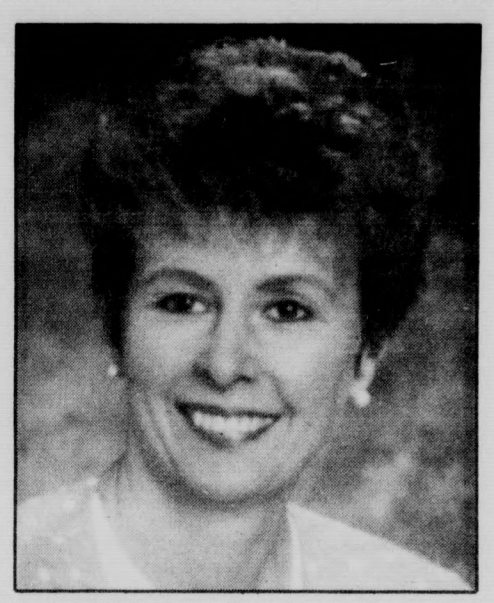

"Other so-called 'direct lenders' try to fit their programs to the borrower. As a 'direct lender' and a 'broker,' Ocean West finds a program that meets trhe need of the borrower," said loan agent Mark Brown.

By being a member of both the Mortgage Bankers Association of Mortgage Brokers and the National Mortgage Bankers Association, Ocean West Funding is commited to being knowledgeable in the rapidly changing world of real estate finance, according to Stewart. As members of the two professional organizations, it adheres to a precise code of ethics and standards of professional practice.

"All this results in the customer being represented by knowledgeable, courteous, educated loan officers. Ocean West provides loans to people, not numbers," says Stewart.

Ocean West Funding is an independently owned mortgage banker, licensed by the Calfironia Department of Real Estate.

Sharon Burt

Burt completes course for CRS

Sharon Burt of Prudential California Realty, Anaheim Hills, has completed a specialized course in the new skills involved in real estate listings. The course was conducted in Long Beach by the Residential Sales Council of the Realtors National Marketing Institute. It is one of the required courses necessary for real estate agents and brokers to qualify for Certified Residential Specialist (CRS) designation.

Included in the study were techniques in counseling, pricing, various client servicing activities, marketing techniques and other programs designed to close sales on residential properties.

Residential Sales Council courses are presented regularly throughout the nation. The council is affiliated with the Realtors National Marketing Institute, which is an affiliate of the National Association of Realtors.

Featured homes

Newness is built-in

Great curb appeal and it's about as private as a home can get without being in a secluded area. This 4-bedroom, 1.75-bath East Anaheim home has been remodeled throughout.

The living room features a fireplace. The home has a dining room and comes with an inside laundry. The family kitchen has newer appliances and an island stove and built-in barbecue among other features. It has a newer roof.

The home is offered for $216,900 by Eva Jo Romero of Century 21 Action Associates. For more information, call Ms. Romero at (714) 772-4606.

This one's a mini-ranch

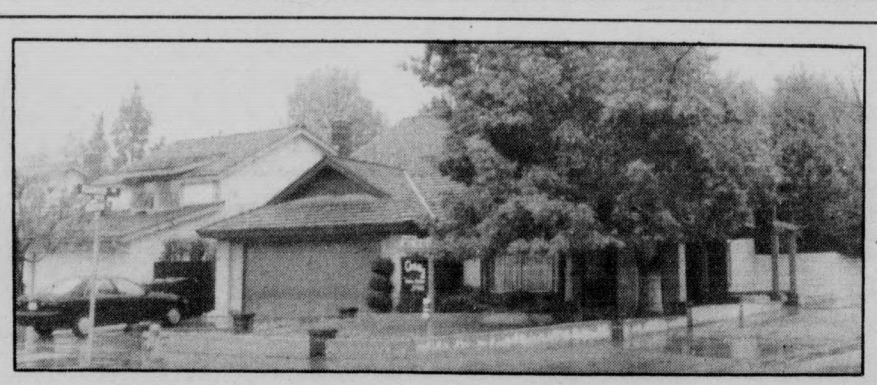

The big weekend decision for the family moving into this Yorba Linda home is whether to saddle up the horses, tend the vegetable and flower gardens, or just kick back and relax in the spacious house and the land it sits on.

The single-story home on .75 of an acre is listed for $410,000.

The home features 4 bedrooms and 3.5 baths in an open, flowing floorplan. The focal point is the huge family room with its massive brick fireplace. In addition there is both a formal and informal dining room, large kitchen with a breakfast bar, separate living room and a 4-car garage with lots of room for an RV or boat.

The home comes with a large corral with railing among other outdoor amenities.

For more information, call Steve Morton of RE/MAX at (714) 559-9400.

An Anaheim Hills delight

This one needs to be seen before it gets away. A secluded back yard is a feature of this 2-story home, but certainly not the only feature. Entry to the home is on a raised parquet with a light and bright living toom to the left and a formal dining room to the right.

An eating area divides a large family room from the kitchen, which overlooks the private backyard surrounded by shrubbery.

There is an upgraded mantel over the family-room fireplace. A wet bar also is featured.

The master bedroom is on the upper level and is unusually large with a cozy sitting area and walk-in closet. Two other large bedrooms enhance the sleeping areas. The home is priced at $247,900.

For additional information, call Karen Neal of Century 21 Yorba Station at (714) 237-8967.

An entertainer's dream house

Check out these outstanding features. A beautiful pool, waterfall and large patio area with Palos Verde planters; an original downstairs 5th bedroom has been converted to a very formal living room; and a special customized walk-in closet, plus mirrored closet and bath come with the main floor master bedroom

Add to all this, an oversized family room, family kitchen/dining area with a lot of newness, and this La Habra home comes up a winner.

Some of the new includes new carpeting, newer roof and a number of upgrades.

The home sells for $234,900.

Information on other amenities is available by calling Virginia Puderbaugh of Century 21 Chuck Stevens at (714) 879-3116.

An excellent family home

The family isn't cramped for space in the four bedrooms of this Anaheim Hills home. The master bedroom is even highlighted with a fireplace, as is the family room. The master bedroom has a dressing area.

A large kitchen enhances the home.

A pool and spa are ideal for entertaining. The carpeting throughout is new and the home has been freshly painted inside and out. The patio comes with a sunbreaker.

The price has been reduced to $339,000.

For more information, call Don Bugalski of Tarbell Realtors at (714) 637-7240.

Lots of living space

This 3-bedroom, 2-bath Anaheim home is priced to sell. At only $179,900, it offers the amenities of higher-priced homes.

Relax in summer's heat with the refreshing pool. Feel comfortable in the extra large kitchen. The home includes a dining room. It also has RV access and lots of yard for gardening.

Also featured is a 2-car attached garage. The home has been repainted and has new carpeting.

For additional information, call Chuck Swearingen of ERA Real Estate Store at (714) 527-9011.

Five sales associates at The Prudential California Realty's Fullerton office were among those recognized at the firm's annual awards ceremony in March. From the left are Carl Byers, Sharon Larson and Sylvia Schmidt. Byers, the No. 1 sales associate in 1992, was awarded membership in the national Chairman's Circle, and is a charter member of the firm's California 100. Schmidt achieved the firm's Multi-Million Dollar designation for 1992. Larson, manager of the Fullerton office, was honored as Manager of the Year. Other honorees not pictured are Sue Kint, membership in the Leading Edge Society, and Chris Hoskins and Joan Ross, with the Multi Million Dollar designation.

Among ten sales associates at The PRUDENTIAL California Realty's Orange/Villa Park office recently honored, from the left, are Lorraine Donovan, Mark Burkhardt, Sherri Moore, Chris McKeen, Linda Bancroft, Paul Gurunian and Hillary Thomas. Thomas and Moore were awarded membership in Prudential's national President's Circle. Thomas also was named to the firm's California 100. Bancroft, Burkhardt, Donovan, Gurunian and Dan Hoeller, Rich Sanderson and Fran Simmons (not pictured) were among those achieving the firm's Multi Million Dollar designation. McKeen, manager of the Orange/Villa Park office, garnered Society of Excellence Manager for 1992.

Liz Pickett

Pickett honored by Achievers

Liz Pickett, an award-winning agent with Century 21 Achievers, has been recognized as the top listing agent for the month of March.

Pickett has won a number of other awards during her eight years in the real estate industry, including membership in the Achievers Presidents Club, the prestigious VIP designation for work with referral clients, and a long-standing member of the Million Dollar Club.

She lives in Fullerton with her three cats (formerly dogs and chickens) and specializes in the Fullerton and La Habra areas.

"Competing with nearly 50 other Achiever associates, Liz's hard work, long hours and experience came through for her (in her latest achievement)," said Denis Thomas, sales manager at Achievers. "We are proud to have her on our team."

Carol Rudat

Rudat keynote convention speaker

Carol Rudat of North Hills Realty in Tustin was a keynote speaker during the Great Real Estates Convention last week in Newport Beach. The topic of her address was, "How to Make Listing Presentation on Estate Properties."

Rudat represents a number of estates in central Orange County and has many executive clients and entrepreneurs. She is a former executive and corporate controller for several well-known corporations in Orange County and holds a degree in finance and an MBA.

She specializes in Fine Estates as well as industrial and commercial properties.

The Great Estates Convention is a semi-annual meeting of chosen companies from around the world for the purpose of unveiling marketing and advertising programs for estate properties. North Hills Realty is one of the few California companies to participate.

Refinance or New Purchase

How fast do you want to close?

☑ 10 DAYS
☑ 15 DAYS
☑ 30 DAYS

How can NSR do it?

The NSR Mortgage concept is a throw back to the old "Local Banker" theme. In the old days when you needed a mortgage loan, you went to your local banker for financing. You would sit down with your local banker and by the time you were ready to leave the office you had an answer.

There are no "LOAN COMMITTEES" standing in the way of a decision.

The NSR Mortgage office has three employees, the Manager, the Underwriter, and the Loan Processor. The Manager is the "Local Banker," a highly experienced and professional mortgage banker that has the authority to make underwriting decisions. The best part is, since the overhead is low, the savings are passed down to you in lower points and fees, plus you get an answer before you leave the office. The professional service doesn't end when you walk out the door. Because NSR has a fully automated processing system and by using alternative documents, loans are processed, underwritten and funded in a record amount of time.

The grass is always greener

Leave behind all the troubles and stress and escape to Lake Arrowhead. Just a hop, skip and a jump from Orange County, the area is a snow bunny's delight during the winter months and a fisherman's dream in summertime.

This mountain getaway has three spacious bedrooms and two full baths. It is nestled yards from Lake Arrowhead Village and is a perfect mountain hideaway for any family.

The sweeping views of the village and the lake can be enjoyed from an outdoor deck, featuring a gas barbecue for those outdoor cooks. The area is set amidst cedar and pine trees and pleasant surroundings for entertaining guests.

The large family room, highlighted with a wood-burning fireplace, also features a mountain view.

The kitchen is country quaint with dishwasher, microwave and cappuccino mahine.

Lake Arrowhead Village is a friendly community with shopping and dining facilities.

For more information regarding the listing, call 1-800-782-7372.

Homes of the hard working and not-so-famous

One thing noticed while driving through Bert and Edith Klar's neighborhood is its quietness and friendliness. Their recently painted 2-story home is located on the curve of a cul-de-sac in Fullerton.

The Klars are the original owners of this 4-bedroom house and have kept the home in immaculate condition.

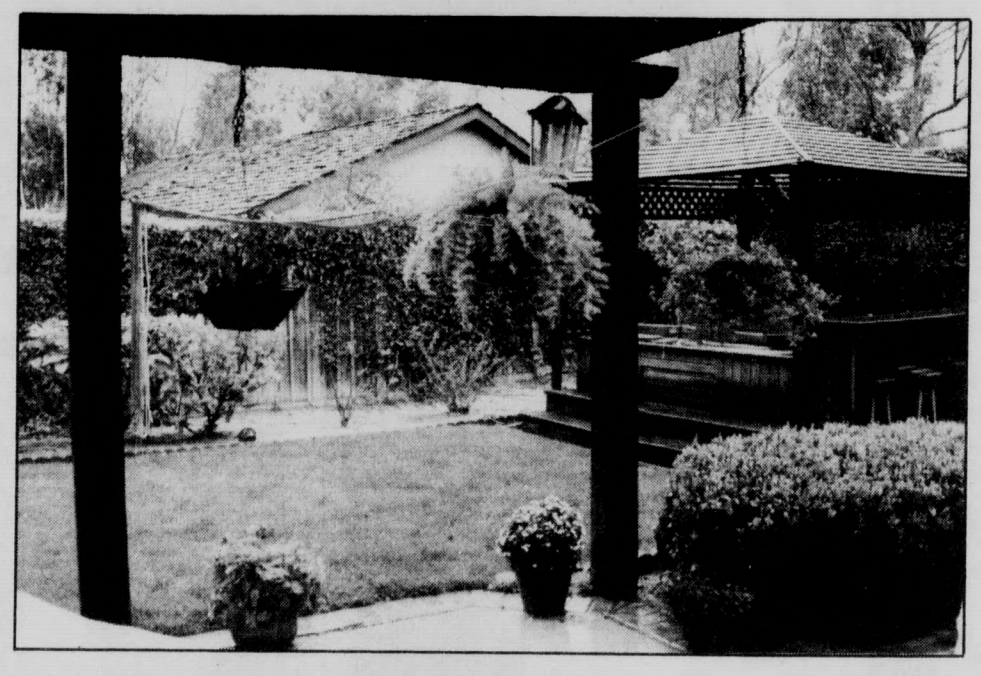

Lush green lawns are well manicured. Recently placed oak flooring is found throughout the house. A winding spiral staircase leads the eye to the cathedral ceiling.

The den, family room and one bedroom is downstairs, as is the kitchen and living room

The famly room is highlighted with a stone fireplace and mirrored walls. A breakfast nook is strategically placed so the view of the backyard and gazebo area can be enjoyed with the morning coffee.

The formal dining room and living room are highlighted with off-white carpet, decorative wallpaper and custom window coverings.

The upper level features the three remaining bedrooms. The king-sized master suite features a dressing area and large walk-in closet.

With plans to move to a resort town, possibly with close-by golfing available, the Klars are ready to sell their home.

The home is marketed with ERA Star Real Estate Center in north Orange County for $305,000. For more information, call the listing agents, Frank and Susan Berman at (714) 974-7033.

Phyllis Rhyan

Phyllis Rhyan honored by ERA

Phyllis Rhyan, a veteran of more than 21 years in the real estate profession, recently received national recognition for outstanding sales performance in 1992 at the Electronic Realty Association L.P. (ERA Real Estate), annual business conference in Washington, D.C.

Rhyan is associated with ERA Star Real Estate Center's Huntington Beach office. She received an ERA Spirit award at the conference.

Throughout her career in real estate, Rhyan has been a consistent multi-million-dollar producer who owned her own real estate company for nine years before merging her firm with ERA Star in 1990.

She is a 20-year member of both the California and National Associations of Realtors, a former vice president of the Huntington Beach-Fountain Valley Association of Realtors, and a nine-year member of the Professional Standards Panel.

An area resident since 1963, and a former school teacher, Rhyan also has two grown children, Michael and Jennifer. She also is a devoted grandmother to Christopher, her first grandchild.

"All of us at ERA Star Real Estate Center are proud of Phyllis and her accomplishments in 1992," said Larry Gage, president of ERA Star. "Her extensive knowledge of the local marketplace and its conditions have helped her to excell in this highly competitive business."

Don't keep it a big secret

Orange County can be proud of its heritage and of its popularity among the elite set. The Trade Secrets column written by Christina Patterson, a regular feature on this page, offers a behind-the-scenes look at some of this heritage and the famous people who choose Orange County as the place in which they want to reside, or just as a good place to visit.

Ms. Patterson depends on the generosity of our readers to generate material for the column. She invites anyone with information of historical value or of people who are among the movers and shakers in Orange County society to call her at 1-800-782-7372.

What a doll!

Do you know who this prominent north Orange County Realtor is?

If you do, call 1-800-782-7372. You might be the lucky winner of a dinner for two at Yves' Bistro!

Last week's baby

Carol Evans of Caldwell Realty was the featured Realtor last week. She wins dinner for two. No one guessed last week's featured baby photo correctly. Better luck next time!

Win a dinner for two at Yves' Bistro

North Orange County Realtors are asked to send in photos of themselves taken when they were toddlers and a recent picture. Those who do, have a chance of winning dinner for two at one of the two Yves' Bistros, located at Lincoln Avenue and Anaheim Boulevard and Imperial Highway and Santa Ana Canyon Road.

The first person identifying the featured Realtor will receive the dinner for two. If no one correctly identifies the toddler's picture, the Realtor featured will win the dinners.

Send all photos to Christina Patterson, 8700 Warner Ave., Foutnain Valley, 92708.

Office vacancy rate on decline

With a continued weak economy in Orange County, the amount of occupied office space grew only slightly in the first quarter of 1993; however, with no new construction the vacancy rate continued to decline, according to Grubb & Ellis Commercial Real Estate Services.

The vacancy rate stood at 20.5 percent countywide as the first quarter ended, down more than a full percentage point from the 21.6 percent recorded for the same period a year ago, according to the study.

Net absorption, or the net change in the amount of occupied office space, totaled 86,812 square feet for the first quarter, down from 104,227 square feet for the first quarter of 1992.

The average first quarter net absorption from 1991-1993 was 127,293 square feet. The average first quarter net absorption from 1987-1990 was 1.04 million square feet.

"Employment growth has been decreasing in Orange County since March 1990, which is reflected in our absorption numbers," said George Economos, senior vice president at Grubb & Ellis' Newport Beach office.

Gross activity for the first quarter totaled 553,000 square feet, an indication that tenants are making moves within the market. Gross absorption was up 15.4 percent from a year ago. For the fifth consecutive quarter, there was no speculative office space under construction anywhere in Orange County.

North Orange County posted a vacany rate of 18.3 percent for the first quarter; however, in Class A and B buildings the vacancy rate is less than 5 percent.

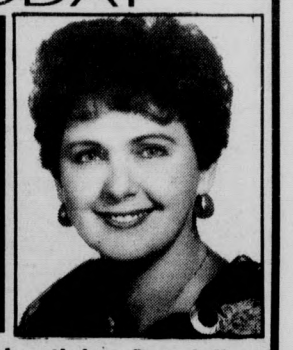

Significant positive absorption in the first quarter also was reported in the north county area with 96,383 square feet. Making up a large portion of that total was Simulation Science occupying 30,000 square feet in Brea and Mercury Insurance occupying 50,000 square feet, also in Brea.

Roxburgh Agency's year was an eventful year

The number 13 turned out to be lucky for The Roxburgh Agency, Inc. Capping a year of notable successes, including four MAME awards and many new clients, the Costa-Mesa-based advertising and public relations firm celebrated its 13th anniversary without a trace of triskaidekaphobia (fear of the number 13).

The latest good fortune? Some are lucky numbers, the same kind of numbers that have kept the agency going strong for 13 years.

The Roxburgh Agency's continuing success was showcased in January when the agency made four trips to the podium at the building industry's prestigious MAME Awards.

The agency joined clients Taylor Woodrow Homes and R & H Homes in accepting Projects of the Year in two categories: Best Attached Product (Taylor Woodrow's Encore at Marina Hills) and Best Affordable Detached Product Under $150,000 (R & H's Ivy House in Hemet). Roxburgh also collected MAME statuettes for Best Brochure and Best Special Promotion. The agency reached the finals in nine MAME categories.

Another milestone during the past year came with the publication of The Roxburgh Agency's 1993 "Calendar of Concepts," featuring the children of agency staff members, the birthdays of clients and friends and such little-known holidays as Legged Forces Day and Relatively Okay Saturday.

In November, the agency coordinated a survey of leading Orange County home-building industry executives immediately after the presidential election. The opinions regarding the outcome of the elction and its effects on the industry were compiled for publication in a newspaper business section.

"It's been an exciting year," says Claudia Roxburgh. "I don't know if the credit goes to an upswing in the economy, our own hard work, or both. But whatever the reasons, we are extemely thankful for our good fortune."

Rates as of April 22, 1993. All loans listed are conventional 30/30 for loans below $203,150 except as specified in the "Notes" column. Points are the per cent of the loan balance paid to the lender at the time of loan closing. For fixed-rate loans, borrowers are advised to compare lock-in features; for adjustable programs ask the lenders if the loan has the potential for negative amortization as well as other important factors such as the index, margin, Caps, insurance and lock-in. Lender Type is: B = bank; K = mortgage banker; R = mortgage broker; S = savings & loan. Mortgage bankers and brokers are licensed by the California Department of Real Estate as either a broker or corporation. For more information call Calif. DRE at (916) 227-0931.

All Annual Percentage Rates (A.P.R.) are calculated by Mortgage News Co. based on a $203,150 loan amount, the points as shown and $700 total fees. An A.P.R. is an estimated annual cost of the loan to the borrower, and they are included in this chart for comparison only. When applying for a loan, Federal Truth-in-Lending law requires lenders to calculate an A.P.R. specific to each loan offer. All quotes are not an offer to enter into a loan agreement. All rates are subject to change; verify rates and terms prior to applying for a loan. All lenders charge other fees in addition to those shown, as well as provide loans with different rates and terms for different loan amounts. For a consumer guide on how to shop for a mortgage, send $4.50 check payable to Mortgage News Co., 1505 East 17th St., Suite 211, Santa Ana, CA 92701. If you have questions please call (714) 836-1177.

SHERRY YARBER

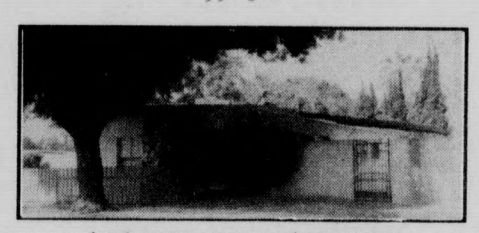

"The Only Name You Need To Know"

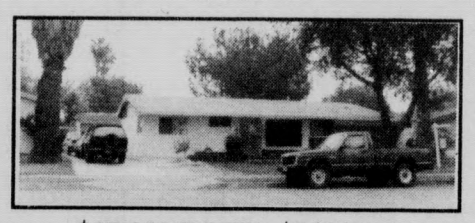

We are proud of Sherry Yarber's accomplishments with the company over the past 12 years. Sherry has averaged over $6 million in closed sales every year. since 1984 - and in '93 was honored by ERA National in the top 1% for the 7th consecutive year. According to Sherry, the reason she is affiliated with ERA North Orange County Real Estate is "as other companies are cutting back, our company is taking an aggressive marketing approach, by providing additional exposure like this full page advertisement reaching 215,000 homes."
She is assisted by her husband Harmon, her office manager, and Christina Matson.
